I would rather have that than to have the bonus feature cut out. I move you, Mr. Speaker, that the House non-concur in the amendments of the Senate.

Mr. DONNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Division or party walls of brick or hollow tile may start on footing course of basement or cellar floors. Exterior division or party walls constructed of brick shall be built of hard burned brick laid in Portland cement or lime mortar and shall not be less than nine inches thick. Where exterior party or division walls of brick extend below the first floor line to a depth below that specified for foundation walls in Section eleven of this act then these exterior party or division walls shall be increased in thickness as called for under Section eleven for brick foundation walls.

Exterior party or division walls constructed of hollow tile shall meet the requirements and be constructed as herein provided.

All hollow tile shall be hollow terra cotta well manufactured and free from checks and cracks each piece or block to be modeled square and true and to be hard burned so as to have a good clear ring when struck and not to absorb more than twelve per centum of its own weight in moisture. The blocks may be built with voids horizontally and with mortar joints between all blocks or they may be built with voids vertical provided all horizontal bearings or joints are reinforced with metal fabric of from one-eighth to one-half inch mesh capable of holding the mortar. This fabric shall be one-half inch less in width than the width of the wall of the course upon which it is applied and shall be double lapped at all corners. Such web shall be spread on each horizontal course of tile before the mortar is put on and shall be completely covered with and imbedded in Portland cement mortar as the course of blocks upon it is being laid. No cutting of blocks will be allowed to admit pipes in bearing walls. The metal fabric hereinbefore specified may be omitted in non-bearing or curtain walls or where the tile is laid in bearing walls with the voids horizontal.

Further that in all parts of the city within the fire limits no interior joist or wood work shall be within four inches of the outside of the exterior of the wall.

In all dwellings over sixteen and not over twenty feet front nor more than forty-five feet high the foundation walls shall not be less than eighteen inches in thickness the front walls shall not be less than thirteen inches the party walls not less than thirteen inches and for all dwellings over twenty feet from the party walls shall not be less than thirteen inches and the front and rear walls shall not be less than thirteen inches to entire height. NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION EXTENDING TIME OF FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then twice read the resolution as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), (That the time of final adjournment of the General Assembly be extended to Friday, June 27th, 1913, at twelve o'clock noon.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this is an extension of time of but one day. The Senate has been consulted about this resolution and in the interest of bills about which members of this House have been talking for months, I do not think there should be one voice against this extension of one day. The Public Utilities Bill is just coming through and there is a very strong probability that some agreement will be reached on the State-wide Primary Bill. There are a number of very important measures for which this House might reasonably extend the time of adjournment one day. Mr. Speaker, in view of that short explanation, which, however, means that much that I might talk about it for months, every member should appreciate the responsibility he owes to the people of the State and should not hesitate about extending the time one day for the purpose of bringing about the passage of these very important measures. Mr. Speaker, for this reason I move the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to oppose a motion of this character, but I think it would be the course of wisdom that the same lie upon the table for a couple of hours until it becomes quite possible that the conference committees are going to come towards some conclusion on some of their matters. This resolution can be called up at any time before we take our recess. I do not make that motion to lay upon the table if it is going to meet with any serious opposition from the House. I merely make it as a suggestion, and if the House does not feel that way about it, I will not make the motion.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this resolution should be acted on now. To-morrow is fixed as the date of final adjournment and this resolution must be acted on at once. This House desires the bills I have just mentioned and in which we are all interested, and this resolution should be acted on at this time so that the Senate may concur.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, under those circumstances I withdraw my motion.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RONEY. Yes, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if the principal object of the extension of time is not on account of the fire marshal's bill which has been defeated in the Senate and which is now in process of being rolled into consideration?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, that is an absolutely pica-yune objection, a pica-yune statement and not in keeping with the usual broad-gauge arguments that we have heard from the gentleman from Allegheny. I never thought of the fire marshal's bill. I had some interest as the sponsor of the bill when it was up, but, Mr. Speaker, as compared with the State-wide Primary Bill and Public Utilities Bill, I never thought of the Fire Marshal's Bill.

The SPEAKER. It is due to the gentleman from Philadelphia for the Chair to state that this resolution was introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia at the suggestion of the Chair, in view of the condition of a number of important bills, and the Fire Marshal's Bill was not mentioned and certainly never occurred to the Chair.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I acknowledge the candor of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen, who has been my friend this session and last and he knows when I speak he tells the truth, and I want him to tell the House that the State Fire Marshal's Bill was not the purpose of this resolution.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the only reason that I asked the question was that the word had just been passed down the line on this side saying that an attempt was being made on the other side to pass this State Fire Marshal's Bill, and it seems to me to be very possible that an extension of time might bring about the passage of that important bill which carries so much of the State's money and such prestige with it.

Mr. ULLRICH. Mr. Speaker, if we extend the time for adjournment, is it necessary to go on with our duties and continue them till Friday?

The SPEAKER. Oh, no, the Legislature when it finds its work completed, it can adjourn any hour, any minute.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, until the gentleman representing this House on the several conference committees report back that an agreement with the Senate committees is absolutely impossible, I am opposed to adjourning, and for that reason I heartily second the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, 129 or more than a majority of the whole House voting in the affirmative, and

The motion was agreed to,

And the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. In view of our experience with the printer, the Chair would advise the members not to make absolute arrangements to depart at the time fixed in this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Strike out section 3 and re-number the remaining sections.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House go into the committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I will make just a word of explanation on the amendment which I have offered. This bill is in relation to the taking and selling of frogs and tadpoles. The bill as now drawn prohibits absolutely the killing of frogs at night time. Experienced men have told me that this is about the only time you can get them. No man working in the day time can go to get them and you can only get them by shooting them with an air rifle or chasing them in some swampy place. My amendment will enable them to be taken at night by the use of a light such as is now used. When this bill was in the Fish Committee, the Fish Commissioner was before the committee and after carefully arguing the bill it was voted not to report it favorably. Finally the committee was discharged under our sixty-vote rule and now my amendment is to permit the taking of frogs at night.

Mr. HACKETT. The gentleman from Tioga mentions the working man who works in the day and cannot catch frogs in the day time. He ought to be at home tending to his children instead of catching bullfrogs. Mr. Speaker, the Fish Commissioner did come before the committee with this one objection to this bill, and that was that he did not care for legislation on tadpoles and frogs at this session. That was his only reason. Now, these tadpoles and frogs will be exterminated throughout the State and we want to prevent that. Several thousand men belonging to sporting organizations of this State are absolutely interested in this bill and I ask every gentleman who is a friend of mine in this House to vote for it.

Mr. J. K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hackett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HACKETT. Yes, sir.

Mr. J. K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman ever catch any frogs at night without a light?

Mr. HACKETT. No, I never did, I always had a light.

Mr. J. K. YOUNG. Did you ever catch any in daylight with your hands?

Mr. HACKETT. No, of course not, I shot them.

Mr. J. K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, this bill is not designed to protect the frogs or turtles. It is a storage bill. During our own season, frogs and turtles are gotten from the South and they do not want us to open the season so that we can catch them.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Young.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. J. K. YOUNG. Yes, sir.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know the gentleman's main objection to this bill.

Mr. J. K. YOUNG. My main objection I have stated before, and I made my objection from the fact that we cannot catch turtles in our particular section or any other part of this State.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further. Is it not true that the objections to this bill is on account of the snapping turtle?

Mr. J. R. YOUNG. Principally snapping turtles

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, it is absolutely essential that this section be in this bill for the reason that the season for snapping turtles is June, July and August, therefore I hope that everybody will vote for this bill.

Mr. J. H. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I would further state that Senator Buckman and Mr. Hackett tried to get an amendment through today but found it was impossible, and found they would have to change the title and make a great many other amendments, and therefore they could not get it through.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HACKETT. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman understand that the amendment that I offered simply related to bullfrogs only?

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, yes sir, we are against any amendments in this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House go into Committee of the Whole?

In was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

A division was called for, 94 voting in the affirmative and 68 in the negative and the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill agreed to on third reading.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2068 (Senate No. 1342), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act to classify the fish in the water within this Commonwealth declaring which are game fish which are food fish and which are bait fish and to regulate the catching and sale and encourage the propagation of the same to protect the waters within this Commonwealth from unfair improper wasteful and destructive fishing and to protect fish from being destroyed or injured by destructive means to provide for the appointment of fish wardens and to declare their official powers and duties to encourage and regulate the propagation of fish within this Commonwealth and regulate the free distribution of the same by the Department of Fisheries in the waters within the same to define powers and duties of the Department of Fisheries to regulate the sale and shipment of fish artificially propagated for profit to forbid the sale of unlawful devices for catching fish and to provide penalties and punishments for the violation of the provisions of this act and providing how and by whom the costs shall be paid"

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill similar to the one that was up a few moments ago, and was handled in a like manner in the committee. The majority of the committee thought it was not a good bill, and that it should not be reported. However, the committee was discharged from consideration of it, and it is now before on final passage. It is the purpose of this bill to place bass in the same category as brook trout. Bass is a food fish. It is provided in this bill that it cannot be caught or sold except during the open season. It also provides that you cannot bring any game fish into this State from outside the State. If you caught fish in Maine or New York and brought it to your home, you would be liable to prosecution. It seems to me that the provisions in relation to bass are sufficient as they are now. You are not allowed to catch over 12 in a day. If you cannot ship it in from other States and sell it, you are going too far, as the Fish Commission thought. I feel the same way about this bill and think it should be defeated.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2176 (Senate No. 612) entitled:

An Act to appropriate the sum of fifty thousand dollars as a part contribution toward the erection of a memorial building in the city of Altoona in the county of Blair and State of Pennsylvania in commemoration of the conference of Governors of sundry loyal states held September twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth eighteen hundred and sixty-two to adopt measures for a more efficient support of the Government in suppressing the Rebellion

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think that in appropriating money for historical celebrations, we have absolutely reached the limit when we come to appropriate fifty thousand dollars to commemorate the Governors of this State. I have refrained from continuing making remarks on monument bills, but when it comes to appropriating fifty thousand dollars to Governors and dead Governors at that, I think it is about time that we should call a halt. I see somebody has sent me a blank check. (a page boy having delivered a blank check to the speaker,) I suppose that means I should check my remarks.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to commemorate the conference of Governors.

Replying to the gentleman from Philadelphia asking you to pass this bill I wish to point out its great merit and the reason why it differs from some of the monument bills we have been considering.

This bill is intended to commemorate an epoch making event, namely, the meeting at Altoona, Blair County, of the 16 Loyal War Governors at a time when the fate of the Union hung in the balance and the balance trembling and hung light for the union cause. Our great war governor Andrew Gregg Curtin never showed to better advantage than in the dark days of September 1862. With great sagacity, he conceived the plan for this meeting and carried it to execution; it was successful and what those men did there in that mountain town, now the Mountain City, made possible the success of Emancipation and the war for the Union.

Last year the people of Altoona and Blair County fittingly celebrated the 50th anniversary of this historical event. It was a great and successful three days celebration. The President of the United States, the Governor of Pennsylvania and many other notables participated in the first day and reviewed the parade headed by the U. S. Marine Band. Veterans of the Civil War, military organizations and 10,000 school children. In the afternoon in a great tented auditorium 10,000 people listened to appropriate and stirring orations. A few brief extracts from those speeches will tell the great significance of the event better than words of mine can possibly do.

In a very happy speech, Governor Tener introduced President Taft saying in part:

"Andrew G. Curtin, Pennsylvania's great war governor, then called into conference at Altoona the executives of the fourteen loyal States, and they resolved then and there to stand back of Lincoln and promised him not only their personal support, but the entire support of their states; so Pennsylvania in that conflicting time, took its place in that great cause, which plan was the suggestion of our great Governor Curtin. After an interval of some eight months the great battle of Gettysburg was fought and which became the turning point of the great war, and as we all know, out of that struggle came a united people, and not that only, but a united government serving under one grand flag."

President Taft's response was most eloquent and impressive. After describing the gloomy outlook and deep depression of President Lincoln said:

"Just at that time your great war governor Andrew G. Curtin concluded while that the war governors had been working and helping along the cause as well as they could that the time had come when three hundred thousand additional troops were necessary in order to accomplish the task before the Federal Government and so he suggested to Mr. Seward whom he met in New York that it might be a good thing to call together the loyal governors and have them speak out and tell the president how they sympathized with him and how they were determined to uphold his hands."

"So these loyal war governors came here some of them could not come in person and sent representatives, but they came and they did not have any reporters present, but they just sat there and talked it out, and in that room in the Logan House, in which we've lunched today and then after they talked it out and got into their minds what they were going to do and say, they went down to Washington on the 27th and through Governor Andrews of Massachusetts another hero who occupies a pedestal in the hall of fame drafted an address to President Lincoln."

The address referred to pledged the President 100,000 troops, money and supplies and what was even more significant set their approval upon his issuing of the Emancipation Proclamation which he had done only two days before. As Mr. Lincoln knew of the meeting of the loyal governors and who can tell but what their actions nerved his hand to issue the immortal document that struck the shackles from an enslaved race. Mr. Speaker, This memorial building and the relics it will contain will preserve the memory of the loyal war governors and the momentous conference held by them and will become a shrine to which the people and future generations will come and draw inspiration for renewed devotion to home and country.

Mr. Speaker the bill provides:

That the sum of fifty thousand dollars shall not be payable until there shall be realised and made available for the erection of said memorial building and an additional sum of at least twenty-five thousand dollars provided further that the character and design of the said memorial building shall be approved by the Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the governors of other states whose executive participated in said conferences and whose legislatures shall make an appropriation to be applied for the commemoration of such participation in the construction of said memorial building and all money obtained for the erection of the said memorial building to be expended under the supervision of the trustees of "The Loyal Governors Memorial Association (Incorporated)" the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the Mayor of the City of Altoona and two such other persons as may be agreed upon by the governors of the respective States whose Legislatures as aforesaid shall contribute to the purpose of said memorial and the said parties shall constitute a commission to select and purchase a plot of ground in the City of Altoona to be acquired for a site for said memorial building and to take title for the ground for which the building may be erected in the name of the "Loyal Governors Memorial Association" to superintend the erection thereof and to make all the necessary and proper arrangement for the dedication of the same when it shall have been completed, said commission shall serve without compensation and the said "Loyal Governors Memorial Association" shall make due provision for the protection and the preservation of the said memorial building without expense to the State it being expressly stipulated that the State shall have no responsibility therefore."

Thus this bill provides that our people must themselves raise a large sum before the State's money is available. This is a safeguard and guarantee that the custodians, having not only a sentimental but also a financial interest will probably care for the structure.

Blair County and Altoona have, at their own expense, long since erected monuments to their heroic dead. This is their first appeal to the Legislature. They have done much for the State and stand high in the column of tax paying counties. In all our wars, her sons have sprung to arms, devotedly followed the flag to camp and field and may surely be depended on in the future to defend the State or Nation from foreign enemy or internal foe.

Gentlemen of the House, this is a most meritorious measure. Give it your hearty support. Vote aye and pass the bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2203 (Senate No. 1068), entitled:

An Act providing for exhibits demonstrations and lectures by the Department of Agriculture and its Bureaus at county fairs and other agricultural and horticultural exhibitions and making an appropriation therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand, this line of work as provided for in this bill is taken up by the State College and they have trained men to do the work. It seems that this provision in this bill is unnecessary for that reason. I think it should be voted down.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, just a word in addition to what the gentleman from Butler has said. There has been an appropriation made to the State College for doing this very sort of work.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2234 (Senate No. 1822), as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Punxsutawney Agricultural Fair Association of Punxsutawney Jefferson county

Whereas Under the provisions of an act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred seven entitled "An Act to authorize county commissioners for the purpose of encouraging agriculture and the holding of county agricultural exhibitions to pay annually one thousand dollars to the incorporated agricultural association paying premiums on agricultural exhibits holding an annual exhibition in the county providing for the filing of sworn statement by the claimant or claimants with the county commissioners relative to said exhibition and providing for the repayment to the county by the State of the sum so paid" certain agricultural associations in each county receive indirectly from the Commonwealth one thousand dollars annually to reimburse them for premiums paid on agricultural exhibits and

Whereas Proceeding in anticipation receiving its pro rat share of said amount from the Commissioners of Jefferson county the Punxsutawney Agricultural Fair Association of Punxsutawney Jefferson county held in the year one thousand nine hundred twelve in the manner prescribed by law and agriculture exhibition and offered and paid large sums of money as premiums on agriculture exhibits and

Whereas Through inadvertence the said association failed to file its sworn statement with the commissioners of said county within the time required by law and thereby was prevented from receiving said pro rata share and

Whereas The amount still remaining unpaid of said sum of one thousand dollars is two hundred sixty-five dollars and ninety-five cents which is less than the amount of actually paid out by said association as aforesaid as premiums on agricultural exhibits during said agricultural exhibition held in the year one thousand nine hundred twelve therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of two hundred sixty-five dollars and ninety-five cents ($265.95.) is hereby specifically appropriated to the Punxsutawney Agricultural Fair Association of Punxsutawney Jefferson county to partly reimburse it for amounts paid out by it as premiums on agricultural exhibits during the agricultural exhibition held in the year one thousand nine hundred twelve in accordance with and relying on said act of Assembly

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2232 (Senate No. 1819), entitled:

An Act to confer additional powers upon mutual fire insurance companies

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether I fully understand this bill or not, and perhaps some one can tell me if I am right about it or whether I am mistaken. To me this bill appears to exempt mutual fire insurance companies from damage resulting from water in putting out fires, unless that provisions is set forth in the application. Just what effect this would have upon the policies, I do not know, but perhaps some member can explain it to me.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Butler is mistaken. This act gives mutual fire insurance companies doing business in the State of Pennsylvania the right to cover in addition to that already allowed the damage caused by a breakage or leakage in sprinklers. At the present time this insurance is all by New York companies. This will give the right to Pennsylvania companies to take this insurance.

Whereas Owing to the many complex questions that have come before it for consideration and the great diversion of opinion as to the proper method of taxation et cetera it is deemed advisable to continue said investigation therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President pro tempore of the Senate shall appoint three members of the present Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint three members of the present House of Representatives who with the present President pro tempore of the Senate and the present Speaker of the House of Representatives shall constitute a joint committee whose duty it shall be to further consider the laws of this Commonwealth relating to corporations and to revenue and the practical workings thereof and to make a final report thereof to the General Assembly in January one thousand nine hundred and fifteen together with a draft of such act or acts and such other recommendations as it may deem necessary to effect a uniform system of taxation on all subjects in Pennsylvania. Such committee shall have power to elect its own chairman to sit after the adjournment of the Legislature to employ legal counsel and such other officers and employees as may be needed to enable it to properly perform its duties as aforesaid. Its expenditures shall be limited to the amount provided herefor in the General Appropriation Bill to be passed at this session of the Legislature and shall be paid out of the State Treasury upon vouchers signed by the chairman of said committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that, as in the former business of the House, the main business of the night be discontinued for a time to permit the members to get to bed in good season and will give the printer an opportunity to put the bills on file and a motion to adjourn will be in order.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call the attention of the House to a bill on the Calendar before adjourning. It seems rather an important bill and I find no less than two errors in printing which are material errors and it might be well for a bill of that importance, on account of the correcting of the errors, to take some action upon it to-night.

"They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion which cannot be removed but abideth forever. As the mountains are round about Jerusalem so the Lord is round about his people, from henceforth even forevermore. For the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous lest the righteous put forth their hands unto iniquity. Do good, O Lord, unto those that do good and to those that are upright in their hearts. As for such as turn aside unto their crooked ways the Lord shall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity, but peace shall be upon Israel." This song of the psalmist, O Lord, is our morning's prayer. Hear us we ask in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, in regard to this bill I have had several letters from my constituents upon this act. The law today is where a bank or building and loan association is supposed to be insolvent, the presumption is that it is solvent until it is proved to be insolvent and you are obliged to go into court and ask for a receiver, but under this law today—or bill rather—it lies with the discretion of the Banking Commissioner to say whether or not the bank or building and loan association is insolvent. And suppose he should make an error in his conclusion as to the insolvency of the bank, it would work great detriment to the same and perhaps cause a run on that bank, which would practically put this bank out of existence. In view of this fact, believing this to be true, and having received letters from hundreds of my constituents connected with state banks and building and loan associations, I will be obliged to vote "No."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER HOUSE BILL NO. 1789.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of the motion to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 1788 (House Bill No. 1789), entitled:

An Act regulating process pleading and practice in all civil cases whether at law in equity in divorce or otherwise howsoever hereafter brought in any Court of Common Pleas of this Commonwealth and providing a complete system of procedure within the limits of the subject matter of this act was defeated on final passage.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I have not objected to the reconsideration of any vote heretofore this winter, but this bill has been fairly considered by a full Senate, and there is no more merit in it now than there was when voted upon before, and I do not think it has any merit in it at all. Of course, I disagree with some of the members here on that, but I do hope that the Senators will not reconsider the vote taken on this bill. It is the practice bill that we discussed a couple of days ago. It reorganizes and revises the whole common pleas practice of Pennsylvania. It is objectionable because every lawyer will have to learn the law over again, and that is sufficient reason, unless there is shown here affirmatively some reason for it. Now, I have no more interest in it than any other lawyer in the Senate. My practice is about equally divided between corporation practice and private practice for individuals, and it is my honest belief that this bill does a great injury to both classes of people. If an affidavit of defense has to be made out by every defendant in a common pleas case it means additional expense to the defendant, whether he be a farmer or a merchant or a corporation, and for a period of three hundred years the lawyers of Pennsylvania have found it unnecessary to go to this additional expense. There is nothing to be gained in this bill by the plaintiff. It is designed to injure a certain class of people unfairly, and I hope the Senate will not be a party to the reconsideration of this vote.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, it may be that some features of this bill are not absolutely necessary, but there is, to my mind, one feature of the bill which is so good that it carries with it anything else said against any other part of the bill, and that is this: Under our present laws a suit brought against a corporation, in trespass cases, the defendant does not have to file an affidavit of defense, and the plaintiff has no way of knowing what the defense of the corporation may be until he comes into court on the day of trial. In the City of Philadelphia and perhaps in some other parts of the State, a case of this kind cannot be gotten to trial for at least two years, and two years is the statute of limitations for bringing suits of this kind, and I know of many cases, excellent cases, where people have been injured in accident cases and their trespass cases went to trial and they found that they had sued the wrong defendant, and if the two years have elapsed at the time of the trial of the case, he is entirely thrown out of court for the reason that the statute of limitations has run and he cannot sue the right party. There are a number of railroads in Pennsylvania which own subsidiary lines, and if you happen to sue the wrong company you cannot find out what the defense of that company is until you go to trial and then find you have sued the wrong company. It seems to me in this case it is a great injustice, and to me that feature of this bill should be sufficient to carry it through. My practice is divided and perhaps I represent as many corporations as does the Senator, and I wish to say that it is not a particular hardship to file an affidavit of defense for no other purpose than to let the plaintiff know the nature of the defense. He does not have to set out his defense in full, but he has to state the nature of that defense. I therefore hope the bill will pass.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. President, I am not very much in favor of this bill myself and previously voted against it, but out of courtesy to some of the members of this body I agreed to make the motion to have our former action reconsidered, and have done so, simply to show that among the members of this body courtesy is not entirely eliminated. I propose to vote against the bill again.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would just like to repeat what I said yesterday that the biggest law firm in Philadelphia is for this bill, and probably the biggest law firm in this State. Their argument in favor of the bill is that when the plaintiff brings suit he is entitled to an answer, and if I understand this bill right, that is what the purpose of this bill is.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I do not hold any brief here for any corporation, but I have been a practicing lawyer for sixteen years and I am surprised that a member of the bar of Pennsylvania would make an allegation for the purpose of having this bill voted upon that a plaintiff does not know what the defendant's defense is until the day he goes into court. There is not a Common Pleas Court in Pennsylvania that does not recognize the rule, if a rule is served on a defendant, to require that defendant to come into court and state in a bill of particulars what that defense is. This rule may be gotten inside of fifteen days after the suit is brought. The design of this bill goes further. It is designed to require the defendant to come in here and file a technical defense—not what the nature of his defense is, but what his technical defense is. It is designed to catch corporations and all other people who are defendants in damage suits, and I am not afraid to say here that I do defend corporations at home, but I also defend other people, and it is an iniquitous piece of legislation. It is designed for the benefit of those people who bring suits against corporations and regardless of how it will affect the individual defendants they desire to have the bill put through. I had a case at home recently where the horse of a farmer driving along a road was frightened by an automobile and the farmer was injured on a wire fence belonging to another farmer, and clearly the owner of the wire fence along this public road was the man who was liable for the loss that ensued. Now this act would require this man to go in and state his technical defense. Every lawyer knows that a layman can make a plaintiff's claim under the present law, and it does not make it any more difficult for the plaintiff in this bill to make out his statement, but it makes the defendant come into court a long time in advance of the trial of the case and state his technical defense, and I submit, gentlemen, that that technical defense, made under oath, may not be changed thereafter. Now this is the iniquity of this bill and besides that it makes it more difficult for the plaintiff to file his statement as he must file an affidavit that is not required under the present law. It does not simplify, it makes it more difficult. There may be some little merit in it, but there is not merit in it as a whole. There is no demand for it, and it ought not to pass. I feel very strongly about this, because it is one of the things I feel that comes in my line, and I do not think the lay members of the Senate ought to go along and put this bill over the bar of Pennsylvania when the bar is not asking for it. The bar, so far as it has been considered in a body, is against it.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division was called for,

Whereupon, sixteen Senators voted in the affirmative and seventeen in the negative.

So the question was determined in the negative.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1808 (House Bill No. 593), on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to contracts of insurance relief benefit of indemnity in case of injury or death entered into prior to the injury between a servant and his master or any person or association acting for or on behalf of such master

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1808 (House Bill No. 593), entitled:

An Act relating to contracts of insurance relief benefit of indemnity in case of injury or death entered into prior to the injury between a servant and his master or any person or association acting for or on behalf of such master

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, in explanation of the terms of this bill, the railroad companies now have relief departments. Before any person can procure employment with the company it is mandatory upon the applicant to join that relief association. The relief association is maintained largely by deductions from the men employed on the railroad. During each and every month there is deducted from the pay of each man a certain amount for relief insurance and there is a provision in the contract which provides that if a person belongs to the relief department and accepts the benefits he is prevented from bringing any action against the railroad company. It provides that the acceptance of the benefits shall be a bar to a recovery and the Supreme Court has decided in interpreting the relief department agreements between the Pennsylvania Railroad with its employees and the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad with its employees that the acceptance of these benefits shall be a bar to a recovery; Now, I contend, Mr. President, that it is not fair that the men who are obliged to contribute each and every month from their earnings towards the raising of a fund to pay to them in case of sickness, accident or death, and that the acceptance of money which is contributed by them should be a complete defense in any action for negligence against the company. This does not in any way create any additional liability on the part of the railroad company, but in case a man should happen to be stricken down by an accident the agent of the relief department comes along and gives him five dollars on account of the accident, the acceptance of that money is a complete bar to any suit that may be brought by him against the company to recover by reason of their negligence does not in any way excuse the plaintiff when he brings suit from answering for contributory negligence. The bill simply provides that acceptance of the benefits shall not be a bar in the way of a defense to an action for such negligence against the company. It is not asking anything in the way of increasing the liability of the company in whose employ the man may be. It simply says that when a man contributes to a fund out of which he shall be paid when he suffers an accident, or he may be killed and his family receives that benefit, that notwithstanding the acceptance of that benefit the man, or his family in case of his death, have the right to recover against the company for any negligence upon its part. And it is only a fair proposition and a sensible proposition and the Senate should pass the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—33.

Alexander, Beidleman, Catlin, Clark, Crow, Daix, DeWitt, Endsley, Farley,	Graff, Heacock, Hoke, Homsher, Huffman, Jarrett, Jones, Judson, Magee,	Martin, McNichol, Miller, Mills, Moore, Nulty, Salus, Sensenich, Sheatz,	Sheatz, Snyder, Sones, Thompson, Vare, Wasbers, Gerberich, Pres. pro tem.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1636.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 1387 (House Bill No. 1636), entitled:

An Act making it the duty of recorders of deeds of the various counties of this Commonwealth containing a population of over one million five hundred thousand inhabitants to require the furnishing of affidavits that the consideration mentioned in deeds or other instruments of conveyances of real estate offered for record is the actual and true consideration therefor or if not what is the actual and true consideration providing that such affidavit shall be sent to the authorities in the respective counties charged with the revision and equalization of the taxes on real estate therein and further providing that those making or furnishing false affidavits thereunder shall be guilty of perjury was defeated on final passage.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I voted "No."

Mr. WASBERS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WASBERS. Mr. President, I voted "No."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, before we take a vote on this bill I would like to say to the members of the Senate that this bill was introduced with the idea of getting at the correct assessment of properties in Philadelphia. Mayor Blankenburg in our city has been complaining, more or less, that the assessments are not equal, and that they are not assessed at full value, and this bill proposes that when a sale takes place, that the buyer and seller shall make affidavit as to the exact price of the sale and then there is a provision in the bill that proposes that nobody shall see that affidavit or get information of the sale except those having the revision and the fixing of the taxes. Now it seems to me that as this bill only applies to first class cities and all our people are in favor of it, or about all, that the Senate ought to pass this bill to please Mayor Blankenburg first and the real estate assessors afterwards, and in the end have a correct assessment and not be charged with favoritism all the time. In other words have the exact amount of each sale to govern.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1544.

Mr. DeWITT. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 1282 (House Bill No. 1544), entitled:

An Act to amend the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh eighth eleventh twelfth and fifteenth sections of an act entitled "An Act establishing the office of State Fire Marshal defining his powers and duties providing for his compensation and the maintenance of his office giving courts the power to punish witnesses for contempt of his authority and to review his orders and making it the duty of officers of public instruction and persons in charge of public or private schools to instruct children as to the dangers of fire and the pervention of fire waste" approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven by extending the powers and duties of State Fire Marshal his deputies and assistants and providing penalties for violations of said act as amended and to repeal the fourteenth section of said act was defeated on final passage.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, You haven't asked the usual question as to how the Senator voted.

The PRESIDENT. The rule affecting reconsideration was unanimously suspended at tonight's session.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, when?

The PRESIDENT. Tonight, Rule 16 was suspended.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, Was I in the Chamber when this was done?

The PRESIDENT. I do not recall.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I have been in the Chamber all evening and I was not out of the Chamber to the best of my belief.

The PRESIDENT. The motion was made, seconded and the question put and unanimously agreed to. There was no opposition.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Jarrett, will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I would like to know just what time this motion was made.

The PRESIDENT. The stenographer will read his notes.

The notes regarding the suspension of Rule 16 were read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I have been sitting now in this body for eight years, and there has never been a time when such action as this has been taken, and in justice to yourselves and to the State of Pennsylvania it is my opinion it is the duty of this Senate to vote down this motion to reconsider. It is not fair play, gentlemen, that a bill of this character in which there is so much interest when a man is out of the room or when the Senate is not fully in order to pass a resolution of this kind. Gentlemen, in my judgment and I leave it to the consciences of you men, it is not fair play, and this resolution should be voted down.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I have been in this chamber for ten years and there has never been a time in that period that any bill upon the Calendar was defeated whether it was a bill opposed by the majority members of this chamber or by the minority members of this chamber that has not been reconsidered on motion of those gentlemen who voted in the majority. There has never been a time in my experience or the experience of any of the members of this chamber in which such methods as to prevent reconsideration for the purpose of giving a final trial on this bill was denied to any Senator in my ten years' experience and it is only proper and right that members who have been unfortunate in their first attempt have been given a second opportunity to find whether the Senators have changed their opinion as to the merits or demerits of the bill and I think the injustice of the proceeding of this Senate is entirely upon the side of the minority who are opposed to this proposition to such an extent that it requires such efforts as this upon the part of the majority of the Senate and I trust that the motion to reconsider this bill will be agreed to.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, if the men who voted "No" on this question originally do not want to reconsider it it is not the duty of this Senate and it is not proper that they will be overruled by what can be nothing less than sharp practice.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, there has been considerable sharp practice going on in the Senate for the last six months at least.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, not upon my part nor the part of my friends.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McILHENNY and Mr. MILLER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25.

Beidleman, Buckman, Catlin, Clark, Crow, DeWitt, Endsley,	Gerberich, Graft, Hall, Homsher, Hunter, Jones,	Kurtz, Martin, McNichol, McNichols, Morgan, Salus,	Sheatz, Snyder, Sones, Sproul, Thompson, Vare,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I dislike to speak on this bill because the bill should not be before the Senate, but I feel the necessity of doing so and that it is my duty to say what the contents of the bill are. Under this bill every fire marshal in the State is made an assistant to the State Fire Marshal and the result of that is that every fire department of a city or county or township if they have them every firemen in those places will be under the control of the State Fire Marshal. The local fire marshals will be his assistants and any order given by the State Fire Marshal, as in the case of a chief or his assistants, must be obeyed. This bill will take from the local government and put into the State government the control of every local fire department whether volunteer or paid. The bill gives inspectors to the State Fire Marshal to have a roving commission to be paid $1500 per year each and expenses, and who have the right to go into the home and into the factory of every man in the State, and the bill suspends one of the inalienable rights of a citizen to have his home his castle, while this bill permits agents or inspectors to enter into the house without a search warrant. And in the General Appropriation Act the State Fire Marshal and his department are given ten thousand dollars for his salary, $8,000 for his chief assistant, $24,000 for the first, second, third and fourth deputy assistants, $5,000 for statistician; $4,000 for chief clerk; $2,000 for salary for messenger; $30,000 for payment of salary to clerks, $60,000 for the payment of salaries of deputy state inspectors and $50,000 for the payment of contingent expenses. This department has only been in existence and organization since last September. It is a great sum of money being placed into his hands and more power than is given to any State official in this State. If any body speaks in favor of this bill he will tell you it is on a parity with the State Commissioner of Health. The Commissioner of Health only has the right to go into a community when great public necessity demands it. These fire inspectors and Chief Fire Marshal have control at all times of your firemen and fire marshals and they are his assistants. It might be some excuse even for the Department of Health to have control because some great disease might sweep over the State, but there is no danger of this thing from a fire, but fire is a local question and should be handled by local authorities, and there is absolutely no reason, no justice, or good sense that the control of these matters should be taken from the local authorities and put into the hands of this man in Harrisburg, who has had seven or eight months experience as Fire Marshal or fireman of any kind. The Chief Fire Marshal, Mr. Baldwin, was formerly employed in the City of Philadelphia in the Health Department. He was removed from that office by Dr. Neff who was appointed both by former administration and by the present administration. He has had no experience whatever in the control of fires. He has had seven months only to formulate the rules of his Department and we should never permit a bill such as this. It should never come until after the department is thoroughly organized and until they have men capable of dealing with this situation. He does not know as much about fighting fire as any man in this Senate Chamber practically he has had no experience, you men know what the firemen do but this man has lived in Philadelphia and his work has been in an entirely different direction.

Now the way this bill has gotten this far is bad enough. The bill itself is bad enough, but the threats that have been made are worse. I can only repeat what I stated before, that since I have been in this chamber there has never been a thing that happened here that has so shocked my sense of right, and fair dealing between man and man as the acts of this Senate tonight. This bill has been urged for four days now by every means which could be brought into play to control the votes of these men. Constantly have been in this chamber, interviewing Senators, high officials of this Government, from the Secretary of the Commonwealth down to the lowest man in the government who could have any influence with a Senator, and I submit to you gentlemen that not only as to this bill alone, but as a general policy it is contrary to the best interests of this Commonwealth that men from other parts of the State Government—the executive part—come here and attempt to control the votes of these Senators who have failed to do things that we wanted them to do for us from the Highway Departments or other Departments can bring influence to bear on Senators which should not be brought on any bill, much less on a bill of this character, and I can only say to you gentlemen that this bill bad in itself, bad as to the means by which it has been put through, certainly should be defeated.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, this bill, as I understand it is a matter of grave importance to Pennsylvania. If the Senators here assembled would defeat it because of what proceeding or what manner of proceeding it comes before them at this particular time. So far as the circumstances under which it was reconsidered are concerned with a kindly feeling towards some of the men who propose to vote against this bill I will not try on this floor to tell of the unfair and underhanded and unparliamentary manner in which this bill was tied up. I can say, and I can say safely, and I know whereof I speak, that men on the floor of the Senate have followed principles I imagine were never heard of in the history of the law making of Pennsylvania, men who have almost put their words down to fight this bill with their own blood. There was conspiracy among the men who are opposed to this bill for no other reason that it might take power from some political party in some particular part of this State and deprive the State of Pennsylvania of a law, and there is no better one in the history of this State. Mr. President, it is idle and idiotic for the members of this Senate to stand here on the question of a few paltry dollars in a place like this. And may I state that I know of no crime that any man under Gods domain can commit that rises higher in the annals of the criminal than to be an incendiary. To my mind, murder itself is a similar crime, and one of the reasons why we of this State ought to stand up manly and courageously as against any outside influences and pass this bill, is that it may place in the hands of the fire marshal of this State a law that will bring such offender to justice. It is a known fact that men who have committed this crime in Pennsylvania go unpunished for years. There have been fewer convictions for arson in the State of Pennsylvania in proportion to the number of fires than any other State in this Union. I say that of itself is a blot upon the fair name of our State. In addition to that, Mr. President, this bill is in accord with all policies of the time, not only in accord with questions of fire, but in accord with other questions. It is an effort on the part of the State to establish a department which will cause the prevention of fires.

We have been taught in our Health Department and in all other departments about the best way to economize for this State is the prevention of waste, be it so far as the health of the citizenship is concerned, be it so far as the wealth and resources of the State are concerned. This bill is being advocated for those two reasons more than any other. In twenty-six States of the Union it has been a success. In many of the States the number of fires has dwindled to about thirty-three and a third per cent. This is the twenty-seventh State in which this effort is being made. There are objections to this bill from the Director of Public Safety of the City of Philadelphia and from similar people in Pittsburgh, and the only reason that they object is because they feel that it might take some power from their hands. This does not interfere with either of their directors. The bill in itself does not allow the Fire Marshal to do anything in so far as pertains to the management of the fire department in this State. He has no say in the management of the fire department in so far as their departments are concerned in the fighting of fires. All that he can do under this bill is to send his deputies around to use their best efforts to prevent fires and make report. I know little of the condition in Pittsburgh, but I know that in the City of Philadelphia a man who is opposed to this bill is a man who once wrote a book on the prevention of fires. He had as he says five years' study in the prevention of fires. This bill is framed in accordance with many instances in the book that this particular man wrote and when he appeared before the Committee and opposed this bill, he was brought face to face with statements made in his own book, and he refused to answer the questions. The only thing he would say was: "I will not answer this question at this time." This particular party is closely connected with out present Director of Public Safety in the City of Philadelphia. This particular party uses each day of his life sixty-five firemen in the City of Philadelphia for no other purpose than to advocate his own particular business interests. I heard him before the Committee say to this Committee "If I had my way I would have fire sprinklers in every house in the City of Philadelphia and would have the City pay for it." I did not know at the time who the man was, I turned around to one of my friends who was sitting near and said "That is a pretty liberal sort of a man." I wanted to listen to him and I did listen and found out that this great philanthropist sells five sprinklers in the City of Philadelphia and is using sixty-five of the City's firemen every day in his own business. This self same man is the same man who two years ago advocated the establishment of an institution the same as we are trying to have the State of Pennsylvania establish now. This particular gentleman was appointed by our present Director of Public Safety as the head of this Fire Department of Fire Commission as they call it, and now opposes the bill because it would interfere with his business. I say that this is one of the most important bills that has come before this Senate and it is not a bill advocated to help anybody except the citizens of this Commonwealth, and for the benefit, of every man, woman and child, in the State, and the man who votes against it is voting against humanity and all things that tend to uplift in this great community.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, I just want to say a word here and why I am opposed to this bill, not because I know anything of the gentleman the Senator has just spoken of. I have met him but once, but from my inquiries from the various firemen in the district from which I come they tell me and I think it is a necessity that these men should become familiar with the conditions that surround buildings and the conditions that confront them when a fire breaks out, they become familiar with the building, the openings in the buildings, the size of the walls and the conditions that surround it. We had a great fire in the City of Philadelphia and I think it is high time we had somebody trained along these lines. I submit on a very cold night when a fire takes place in a building with a nine or twelve inch wall that the heat and cold coming in contact, something must give way, expansion and contraction. The firemen whom I visited in Philadelphia told me they were becoming familiar with the various buildings in their districts so that if a fire would break out they were familiar with the openings in that building they would know how to go in and protect themselves and the public. That is the only reason that I am opposed to this bill after asking these men would they like the conditions that they were working under now changed, they said they would not and for that reason and that reason only am I against the bill.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I am opposed to this bill. I am opposed to it for the reason that in the place in which I live the council is sufficiently capable to look after their own affairs. We owe the State of Pennsylvania nothing. We pay the taxes on our buildings and we pay the upkeep of our municipality. It has appointed the fire chief and there are some paid men. We have a well regulated department, there is no dissention in the running of that fire department, and the people of the municipality in which I live are entirely satisfied. And now it comes Mr. President to the proposition of throwing on the State of Pennsylvania the burden of creating a lot more offices. We know not whom these deputies are going to be we know not whether they know anything about fire regulations. As has been said here by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McIlhenny, that the present Fire Marshal is a man who knows nothing at all about fire regulation and for a man of that kind to come into the municipality in which I live to tell a man whom I know to be well trained in that position, I am not for such a proposition and then to have some fellow up the State here who knows nothing at all about it and have him placed in office to pay some political debt come in and dictate to the Chief of the Fire Department I am not for such a proposition, as that, and as I said we are amply fitted to take care of our own affairs. As to the matter of the unfair means used in order to get this proposition to come before us for reconsideration I want to say that you have to fight a fellow at his own game if the other fellow uses stones, use stones, if he uses a club you have to use it too, this is a proposition here that means dollars and cents to the State of Pennsylvania and to the people of the municipalities different cities and boroughs and townships of this Commonwealth it means their civil rights being abused and their civil liberties and I am against such a proposition as that and for that reason Mr. President, I will vote against the bill.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, when this bill was up for final passage several days ago I voted for it and about half an hour ago I told several persons in this chamber that I would vote for it again, but I wish to state to them in their hearing now that I propose to break that promise and vote against the bill for certain reasons that have happened since I made that promise. I shall vote against the bill.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, it is absolutely impossible in these long sessions,—we have been in session of and on, since 10 o'clock this morning—for any man to watch what is done in this chamber. We have got to trust to the honor and manhood of our fellow Senators to protect us from sharp practice and I want to say for the Senate of Pennsylvania that never before since I have been here have they had to resort to taking advantage of a man when he was out of the Chamber or that a snap meeting was called.

This is an important bill. Everybody here knew that I was interested against this bill and to say that a man ought to have been in his chair at 10:45 or any other particular time is humanly impossible, and I really find difficulty to speak on this bill. Gentlemen, I am so shocked and so swerved at the feeling that the men whom I sat with here, some for eight years, some for nearly four, that would be party to a transaction of this kind. I find it difficult to speak, gentlemen, on this question, because it was a shock to me such as I have never had before in my life, from men I have sat with, and have had warm friendships with, and I think that these men in this Senate who voted for this bill what has been done they are doing an injustice to themselves and to the State of Pennsylvania and I must say that I honor greatly the Senator from Franklin who has been man enough to stand and see justice done between man and man.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, the recess taken this evening was to meet at 10:45. This chamber met in session at 11:15. The motion was made and seconded in the regular way and unanimously agreed to, and it ill becomes the Senator from Philadelphia to talk about fair play. When he sat in his seat within three weeks when a judge was appointed by the Governor of this State and I went to him and asked him if I made a canvass of the members of his committee and got the sanction if he would not report the appointment out with a favorable recommendation for confirmation by this Senate. He said it was absolutely against the rules of his committee, he could not do it, as it was impossible, and he would have to wait until next morning until the Committee heard that particular case. The very next day came the appointment of five judges and without him talking to a single Senator about them and recommending them he reported it out with a favorable recommendation. He is the last man in this Senate who ought to talk about not having fair play.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I leave to the Senate whether I have played fair in this session. In reply to what the Senator said I explained that to him personally. When we have nominations sent from this Committee on Tuesday we always wait until Wednesday morning to act upon them at our regular meeting. When we receive nominations on Wednesday and there is no further meeting of the Committee until the next Tuesday, we report them out by merely going around. The nomination the Senator referred to was referred to us on Monday night. The Committee met at nine o'clock Tuesday morning and reported it out at 10 o'clock. I leave it to the members of the Senate whether such a charge is fair from the Senator from Philadelphia.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McIlhenny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McIlhenny, allow himself to be interrogated.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knew the first appointee. I would like to know if he is acquainted with the one that came in first.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I have met him since.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to know if he is not acquainted with one of the last ones.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I was acquainted with several of the last.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to state to the Senate that that was the difference between the two.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, If I did not arise in my seat this night to oppose the passage of this bill I would consider myself a coward, and not doing my duty in behalf of over nine hundred men in the fire department of the City of Pittsburgh, of which I have the honor and pleasure of being a part thereof. I do not care now about this conspiracy, as has been suggested here to-night. Such does not appear according to the notes as read by the stenographer of our Senate, but I am obliged to oppose this, not of my knowledge of the fires of the State of Pennsylvania, but I take my information and knowledge of my superiors in this particular line. I have here a letter of a man who has fought fires in the City of Pittsburgh for over fifty years and who is now the Chief of the Fire Department of that city. He says: "I desire to say for myself and those under me that this bill practically makes the Department that is paid for and kept up by the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh a tail to the fire marshal of the State of Pennsylvania. Personally I have no objection to this bill so long as it does not conflict with the running of the Bureau of Fire in the City of Pittsburgh. But when Mr. Baldwin, the State Fire Marshal undertakes to make me and my men adjuncts to his department then I am obliged in the interests of my men to rebel. The Fire Marshal Act is a fire insurance law. It is designed primarily for the prevention of arson by the detection and punishment of the incendiaries. It may be urged that the fire losses in this State are enormous. They are and always will be so as long as the fire insurance companies are willing to insure stocks of goods for several times their value and until we improve our building laws. The Fire Marshal Act attempt to correct an evil after it had occurred. The way to stop arson is for the fire insurance companies to insure stock only at its real value. A fire then ceases to be a source of profit to the dishonest policy holders, and will become as rare as it is common now. If all the money paid into the fire insurance companies 50 per cent. goes to the companies for administrative costs, commissions, dividends, etc. Of the remainder it is claimed that 75 per cent. goes to the dishonest policy holder who burns his stock for profit, leaving but one-eighth of the total amount of premiums paid in to go to the honest man whose fire is purely accidental. The great danger from the incendiary fire lies in the fact that it is always started at such a time of the night (generally) as will insure the getting a good start before detection, the idea of the incendiary being to have a complete loss, thus destroying all evidence of his crime and rendering it impossible to prove the wide difference in value between the actual stock of goods and the amount of insurance that is issued upon them. It is our duty as firemen to care for human life and to subdue fires as we find them, not to become part and parcel and become subject to the call of the Fire Marshal of the State of Pennsylvania. In conclusion I desire to inform you that since I have taken office as chief engineer of the Bureau of Fire from March 1st to April 30, the men under me have made over two thousand inspections of buildings in the City of Pittsburgh. These inspectors have been thorough and have familiarized the men with their territories and the class of buildings they will have to contend with in case of fire." In a subsequent letter he states: "I have no objection to the Fire Marshal having his salary raised or his assistants having their salary raised, but I do object to a man who has never handled a fire in his life being granted by the Legislature the right to dominate ten Chief Engineers and a working body of nine hundred men of the City of Pittsburgh." My good friend, Senator Salus, stood on the floor here and told you about the man in the City of Philadelphia employing sixty-five men to promote his own interests and his own game, and he said this bill should be passed in the interest of humanity. I do not know anything about the City of Philadelphia but I do know about the City of Pittsburgh, and in the interest of God and humanity do not lay at the door of the City of Pittsburgh and do not compel us to take a law that the people of the City of Pittsburgh and the Fire Department of the City of Pittsburgh do not want. I do not stand here and no other man that desires to vote against this bill wants to vote against the interests of supporting humanity and the interest of the people whose lives are at stake caused by fires, either incendiary or otherwise. We all believe in the interests of humanity and I want to tell you that I believe in the statements made by this chief with over fifty years experience, that what he says is true. Let this man carry out the duties for which this office was originally created, the investigation of fires, instead of allowing him to go into the different cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and tell them how they shall run their fire department and the interest of the fire department of the City of Pittsburgh, we do not want him. We are well satisfied the way we run our Department.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, in view of the lateness of the hour I move that the question, together with the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present and that it be made a special order of business for to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I second the motion. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President the hour is not so late. It is a good way off before twelve o'clock. when we adjourn and this thing is brought forward and let us fight it out. I am opposed to this bill because it takes from the people of the different parts of the State the rights and privileges of governing their own affairs, as they see fit, and they can do it a great deal better than we can do it for them by a great big department in the City of Harrisburg and there is too much of this trying to govern every little thing of the State from the centre here and I am opposed to this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division was called for, whereupon twenty-three Senators voted in the affirmative and seventeen Senators voted in the negative.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

tracts and fixing penalties for violation of this act" beg leave to submit the following amended bill as our report:

JOHN P. MOORE,
JOHN GYGER,
ASA K. DeWITT,
Committee on the part of the Senate.

R. J. BALDWIN,
D LOYD CLAYCOMB,
Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

An Act providing and requiring standard provision in policies of health or accident or accident and health insurance issued or delivered in this Commonwealth prohibiting discrimination in such insurance exempting certain contracts and fixing penalties for violation of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and fourteen no policy of insurance against loss from sickness or loss or damage from bodily injury or death of the insured by accident shall be issued or delivered to any person in this Commonwealth until a copy of the form thereof and of the classification of risks and the premium rates pertaining thereto have been filed with the Insurance Commissioner nor shall it be so issued or delivered until the expiration of thirty days after it has been so filed unless the said Commissioner shall sooner give his written approval thereto. If the said Commissioner shall notify in writing the company corporation association society or other insurer which has filed such form that it does not comply with the requirements of law specifying the reasons for his opinion it shall be unlawful thereafter for any such insurer to issue any policy in such form. The action of the said Commissioner in this regard shall be subject to review by the court of Common Pleas of Dauphin county

Section 2 No such policy shall be issued or delivered except subject to the following conditions (1) unless the entire money and other consideration therefore are expressed in the policy nor (2) unless the time at which the insurance thereunder takes effect and terminates is stated in a portion of the policy preceding its execution by the insurer nor (3) if the policy purports to insure more than one person nor (4) unless every printed portion thereof and of any indorsements or attached papers shall be plainly printed in type of which the face shall be not smaller than ten point or (5) unless a brief description thereof be printed on its first page and on its filing back in type of which the face shall be not smaller than fourteen point nor (6) unless the exceptions of the policy be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which they apply. Provided however That any portion of such policy which purports by reason of the circumstances under which a loss is incurred to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances shall be printed in bold face type and with greater prominence than any other portion of the text of the policy

Section 3 Every such policy so issued shall contain certain standard provisions which shall be in the words and in the order hereinafter set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "Standard Provisions" In each such standard provisions wherever the word "insurer" is used there shall be substituted therefor the word "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" or such other word as will properly designate to the insurer Said standard provision shall be

(1) A standard provision relative to the contract which may be in either of the following two forms Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide for reduction of indemnity on account of change of occupation and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide. If Form (B) is used and the policy provides indemnity against loss from sickness the words "or contracts sickness" may be inserted therein immediately after the words "in the event that the insured is injured"

(a) 1 This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance. No reduction shall be made in any indemnity herein provided by reason of change in the occupation of the insured or by reason of his doing any act or thing pertaining to any other occupation

(b) 1 This policy includes the endorsement and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance except as it may be modified by the insurer's classification of risks and premium rates in the event that the insured is injured after having changed his occupation to one classified by the insurer as more hazardous than that stated in the policy or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation in which event the insurer will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits so fixed by the insurer for such more hazardous occupation

If the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued required that prior to its issue a statement of the premium rates and classification of risks pertaining to it shall be filed with the State official having supervision of insurance in such State then the premium rates and classification of risks mentioned in this policy shall mean only such as have been last filed by the insurer in accordance with such law but if such filing is not required by such law then they shall mean the insurer's premium rates and classification of risks last made effective by it in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the insurer is liable

(2) A standard provision relative to changes in the contract which shall be in the following form

2 No statement made by the applicant for insurance not included herein shall avoid the policy or be used in any legal proceeding hereunder. No agent has authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions. No change in this policy shall be valid unless approved by an executive officer of the insurer and such approval be endorsed hereon.

Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident. Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness and Form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness.

(A) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover loss resulting from accidental injury thereafter sustained.

(B) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance.

(C) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover accidental injury thereafter sustained and such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance.

5 Such notice given by or in behalf of the insured or beneficiary as the case may be to the insurer at or to any authorized agent of the insurer with particulars sufficient to identify the insured shall be deemed to be notice to the insurer. Failure to give notice within the time provided in this policy shall not invalidate any claim if it shall be shown not to have been reasonably possible to give such notice and that notice was given as soon as was reasonably possible.

(6) A standard provision relative to furnishing forms for the convenience of the insured in submitting proof of loss as follows:

6 The insurer upon receipt of such notice will furnish to the claimant such forms as are usually furnished by it for filing proofs of loss. If such forms are not so furnished within fifteen days after the receipt of such notice the claimant shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this policy as to proof of loss upon submitting within the time fixed in the policy for filing proofs of loss written proof covering the occurrence character and extent of the loss for which claim is made.

(7) A standard provision relative to filing proof of loss which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided:

(C)—7 Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer at its said office in case of claim for loss of time from disability within ninety days after the termination of the period for which the insurer is liable and in case of claim for any other loss within ninety days after the date of such loss.

(8) A standard provision relative to examination of the person of the insured and relative to autopsy which shall be in the following form:

8 The insurer shall have the right and opportunity to examine the person of the insured when and so often as it may reasonably require during the pendency of claim hereunder and also the right and opportunity to make an autopsy in case of death where it is not forbidden by law.

(9) A standard provision relative to the time within which payments other than those for loss of time on account of disability shall be made which provision may be in either of the following two forms and which may be omitted from any policy providing only indemnity for loss of time on account of disability. The insurer shall insert in the blank space either the word "immediately" or appropriate language to designate such period of time not more than sixty days as it may desire. Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide indemnity for loss of time on account of disability and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide.

(A) 9 All indemnities provided in this policy will be paid after receipt of due proof.

(B) 9 All indemnities provided in this policy for loss other than that of time on account of disability will be paid after receipt of due proof.

(10) A standard provision relative to periodical payments of indemnity for loss of time on account of disability which provision shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not providing for such indemnity. The insurer shall insert in the first blank space of the form appropriate language to designate the proportion of accrued indemnity it may desire to pay which proportion may be all or any part not less than one-half and in the second blank space shall insert any period of time not exceeding sixty days.

10 Upon request of the insured and subject to due proof of loss accrued indemnity for loss of time on account of disability will be paid at the expiration of each during the continuance of the period for which the insurer is liable and any balance remaining unpaid at the termination of such period will be paid immediately upon receipt of due proof.

(11) A standard provision relative to indemnity payments which may be in either of the two following forms. Form (A) to be used in policies which designate a beneficiary and Form (B) to be used in policies which do not designate any beneficiary other than the insured.

(A) 11 Indemnity for loss of life of the insured is payable to the beneficiary if surviving the insured and otherwise to the estate of the insured. All other indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(B) 11 All the indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(12) A standard provision providing for cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insured which shall be in the following form:

12 If the insured shall at any time change his occupation to one classified by the insurer as less hazardous than that stated in the policy the insurer upon written request of the insured and surrender of the policy will cancel the same and will return to the insured the unearned premium.

(13) A standard provision relative to the rights of the beneficiary under the policy which shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not designating a beneficiary:

13 Consent of the beneficiary shall not be requisite to surrender or assignment of this policy or to change of beneficiary or to any other changes in the policy.

(14) A standard provision limiting the time within which suit may be brought upon the policy as follows:

14 No action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on this policy prior to the expiration of sixty days after proof of the loss has been filed in accordance with the requirements of this policy nor shall such action be brought at all unless brought within two years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by the policy.

(15) A standard provision relative to time limitations of the policy as follows:

15 If any time limitation of this policy with respect to giving notice of claim or furnishing proof of loss is less than that permitted by the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued such limitation is hereby extended to agree with the minimum period permitted by such law.

Section 4. No such policy shall be so issued or delivered which contains any provisions (1) relative to cancellation at the instance of the insurer or (2) limiting the amount of indemnity to a sum less than the amount stated in the policy and for which the premium has been paid or (3) providing for the deduction of any premium from the amount paid in settlement of claim or (4) relative to other insurance by the same insurer or (5) relative to the age limits of the policy unless such provisions which are hereby designated as optional standard provisions shall be in the words and in the order in which they are hereinafter set forth but the insurer may at its option omit from the policy any such optional standard provision. Such optional standard provisions if inserted in the policy shall immediately succeed the standard provisions named in section three of this act.

(1) An optional standard provision relative to cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insurer as follows:

16 The insurer may cancel this policy at any time by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to his last address as shown by the records of the insurer together with cash or the insurer's check for the unearned portion of the premiums actually paid by the insured and such cancellation shall be without prejudice to any claim originating prior thereto.

(2) An optional standard provision relative to reduction of the amount of indemnity to a sum less than that stated in the policy as follows:

(4) An optional standard provision relative to other insurance by the same insurer which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided and in the blank spaces of which the insurer

Yea, though we walk through the valley of the shadow of death we shall fear no evil, for Thou art with us. Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort us. Thou preparest a table before us in the presence of our enemies. Thou annointest our heads with oil. Our cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow us all the days of our lives and we shall dwell in the House of the Lord forever." The speech of the Psalmist, O Lord is the language of our hearts. Hear us in this our morning prayer, and especially do we lift our hearts unto Thee in gratitude for the recovery of one dear to the heart of one in this body, whose health was threatened. This bill authorizes the sentence for the payment of costs in the absence of the party upon whom they have been imposed, in cases heretofore tried, and after the term at which the cases were tried has ended. I see no reason for giving such a retroactive effect to a sentence for the payment of costs.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the communication will lie upon the table.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 254.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 25, 1913.
To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 254, entitled:

"An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act authorizing companies incorporated under the laws of any other State of the United States for the manufacture of any form of iron steel or glass to erect and maintain buildings and manufacturing establishments and to take, have and hold real estate necessary and proper for manufacturing purposes' approved the ninth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one extending the same to companies formed for the purpose of quarrying slate granite stone or rocks or for dressing polishing working or manufacturing the same or any of them and to mineral springs companies incorporated for the purpose of bottling and selling natural springs water approved the sixteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three' approved the nineteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one extending the same to companies formed for the purpose of manufacturing and selling chemical food stuffs cement and cement products and the quarrying of cement rock' approved May twenty-eighth one thousand nine hundred and seven extending the same to companies incorporated for the manufacture buying selling leasing using and operation of electrical apparatus and machinery and articles of every kind appertaining to or in any wise connected with the production use regulation control distribution or application of electricity or electrical energy or products for any use or purpose constructing acquiring using selling buying or leasing any works construction or plant or part thereof connected with or involving such use distribution regulation control or application of electricity or the control or use of electrical apparatus for any purpose and of producing furnishing and supplying electricity or electrical apparatus in any form and for any purpose and to carry on a general manufacturing business' approved the twenty-third day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven extending the same to companies incorporated for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing business and to companies incorporated for the purpose of selling dealing in or manufacturing lumber"

This bill extends the right to foreign corporations "incorporated for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing business, and to companies incorporated for the purpose of selling, dealing in and manufacturing lumber" to hold real estate in Pennsylvania. From time to time a limited right to hold real estate has been given to certain classes of foreign corporations, but to extend these privileges to every kind of manufacturing corporations and to all kinds of lumber companies would be giving to a large majority of foreign corporations doing business in this State all the powers in this regard which are extended to the corporations of the State.

I think it unwise to give all of the privileges to foreign corporations which are given to the corporations of our own State.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the communication will lie upon the table.

An Act providing for the purchase by this Commonwealth of the land upon which Fort Washington Cumberland county was constructed and its preservation by this Commonwealth as a memorial of the high-water mark of the war between the States and making an appropriation therefor

Whereas The Confederate forces under General Robert E Lee in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three made a raid into the State of Pennsylvania and the skirmishers of his army reached a point within three miles of the city of Harrisburg and were driven back which skirmish was the high-water mark of the war of the Rebellion and

Whereas Hastily constructed intrenchments were thrown up on a bluff on the opposite side of the Susquehanna river from the City of Harrisburg in Cumberland county called Fort Washington and troops were rushed there to repel the invaders and save the capital city of the State from possible capture and destruction which happily was accomplished and the invasion culminated in the battle of Gettysburg a few weeks later and

Whereas After the flight of nearly fifty years these intrenchments are practically intact and are a silent reminder of the cannon that once crowned them and the brave men who rallied to the defense of the capitol of the State when it was in grave peril and

Whereas To the end that the land upon which this fort was located may be preserved for all time as a historic spot and destined in the years to come a place in the annals of this Commonwealth Therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Governor is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a commission who shall serve without compensation to be composed of three citizens of this Commonwealth one of whom shall be a resident of Dauphin county and one a resident of Cumberland county whose duty it shall be to purchase in the name of this Commonwealth the land in Cumberland county opposite the City of Harrisburg upon which during the war between the States Fort Washington was constructed and to take such steps from time to time as shall be necessary to preserve said Fort Washington as a memorial of the highwater mark of the said war Upon any vacancy occurring in such commission from any cause the Governor may fill such vacancy subject to the conditions aforesaid In the event of the neglect or refusal of any such member to perform any duty herein prescribed such member may be removed by the Governor and the vacancy thus caused shall be filled as aforesaid

Section 2 To carry out the provisions of this act the sum of twenty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated All payments made hereunder shall be upon warrant of the Auditor General under such conditions as to title of the land and method of payment therefor as he may prescribe

NAYS—2.

Scott, J. R. K., Wilsen W. H.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2193 (Senate Bill No. 816), entitled:

An Act authorizing the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to locate construct maintain and operate a reservoir at or in the vicinity of the head waters of the Youghiogheny river upon lands situate wholly in this State or partly in this State and partly in the State of Maryland for the purpose of controlling and regulating the flow of the said Youghiogheny river and the river or rivers to which it is tributary defining the powers of said commission for the purpose providing for the payment of damages for property and rights taken in exercise of the right of eminent domain herein conferred and making an appropriation for carrying out the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I move to strike this bill from the calendar.

Mr. BROSIOUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "nays" appeared to have it. Whereupon, a division was called for.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is of entirely too widespread importance to be disposed of in this way. It is a bill that I am not familiar with and no doubt others and I think there ought to be some debate on it. In order to prevent this kind of procedure I call for the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER. As the Chair did not give time for discussion before putting the viva voce vote, if there is any other gentleman desires to discuss the question the Chair will be glad to afford the opportunity.

The motion is that this bill (Senate Bill No. 816) be stricken from the Calendar.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill appropriating half a million dollars to take care of the floods and improve navigation along the Youghiogheny, the Monongahela, the Allegheny and Ohio Rivers. Now, gentlemen, this commission, the Pittsburgh Water Commission, have looked carefully into this matter, and while, as far as navigation is concerned, the Army Engineers have not agreed as to the course taken by the Pittsburgh Water Commission, yet at the same time in the final report of a National Waterways Commission of the Federal Government, they have come to the conclusion that this is only one of seventeen different reservoirs that they expect to build in order to help along and keep back these floods and to improve navigation. Now, gentlemen, we did not expect to bring a bill before this House of this magnitude without some objections. We did not figure on that when the bill was introduced. Early in the session I introduced a bill covering the same amount of money as what this bill applies for. Owing to the circumstances, one of the Senators introduced a bill in the Senate which came ahead of mine and that is the reason that my name is not attached to this bill as sponsor. But, gentlemen, I want to assure you that whether or not you feel that these floods must be protected against, we warrant it is up to you to look carefully into this matter. It has only been a few days ago that we almost unanimously voted in favor of the Pymatuning Swamp Bill and that bill was to do exactly what we intend to do by means of building these reservoirs. Now is it fair for the members of this House to go around and solicit aid to knock out this appropriation bill when these same members on the floor of this House were going around and asking us to support the Pymatuning Swamp Bill? They have no more right to expect that that bill is going to do any more good than what we expect to get from this Water Ways Commission and the building of these reservoirs between Pennsylvania and the Maryland line.

Gentlemen, this is a thing to be looked into carefully, and you should look into it carefully before voting upon it either in the affirmative or in the negative. These people who are trying to protect the Youghiogheny Valley, tried to get an appropriation from the Federal Government, but failing in that they have applied to this Legislature, and if they get an appropriation from the State, it will not be long before, if this is found to be satisfactory, that the Federal Government will be convinced that it is so. These men who have had this investigation made, and who have served on this commission, have done so without a cent of compensation. It is to protect the district of McKeesport and Pittsburgh. We believe that in the months between April and November, when the most floods occur in that district, that by means of these reservoirs that we can control the flood situation in that district and protect the districts from floods, by holding the water in the high season, and letting it out in the low season. Gentlemen, this bill ought to pass.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most important bills before this House this session. It carries an appropriation of five hundred thousand dollars. They asked for a million. I want to say to you that it would cost over $1,700,000 to build this reservoir according to the report of the United States engineers. I want to show you the project upon which they are asking the State to embark. This is a part of the plan of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission to build 17 storage reservoirs in the western part of the State. This Flood Commission, whose report you have all received, was organized in 1908, for the purpose of relieving the flood situation in Pittsburgh. I have no criticism of the purpose of this organization, but I have of the plan adopted. They apparently started in with the idea that the only way of relieving the flood situation in Pittsburgh was to build these storage reservoirs over the western part of the State. You have the final report of the engineers calling for seventeen of them as the final plan towards which they are working. We are asked now to build the first of these dams on the Youghiogheny River. Mr. Speaker, after this plan was adopted by the Pittsburgh Flood Commission, they tried to saddle the proposition on the United States Government. They realized that the expense would be so enormous that Pittsburgh itself would not be able to handle it. In 1911 the Chief Engineer of the United States Army was authorized to investigate this proposition. I have his report. On page three he condemns the proposition entirely, in these words:

"In the opinion of the Chief Engineer, no system of reservoirs on these rivers should be allowed to interfere with the existing slack-water navigation projects which it may aid somewhat but cannot successfully replace, and any aid which the above described reservoir system" (that adopted by the Pittsburgh Flood Commission) "could render to navigation interests would be small in comparison with its cost, and would introduce great liability of terrific losses to both systems of dams in case of any serious accident to a single reservoir dam."* "Under such circumstances, I concur in general with the views of the special board and by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, and therefore, in carrying out the instructions of Congress, I report that the construction of a system of impounding reservoirs at the headwaters of the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio Rivers and their tributaries by and at the expense of the United States is not deemed advisable at the present time"  Signed, W. H. Bixby, Chief of Engineers, U. S. Army."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I am against this proposition for one reason, because we have no definite estimate of its cost. The report of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission was to the effect that this reservoir in question would cost in the neighborhood of one million dollars. The report of the United States engineers tells us that it would cost nearly twice as much as this estimate of the Flood Commission; that the land damage alone would be twice as great as that reported by the Flood Commission. The cost of the dam itself, according to the report, has been underestimated, but the United States engineers have not attempted to correct the figures. There is only one of two conclusions at which to arrive. Either the estimates of the Flood Commission are unjust and untrue, or else were made by an incompetent engineer. Engineers of repute do not differ to the extent of one hundred per cent. in their estimates of costs and damages. Now as to the result of the construction of this dam. The United States Government has condemned the project, because in case of accident to the dam, it would wipe out the slack-water system of the Monongahela and Ohio Rivers. These rivers have been improved at a tremendous cost, and if one of these reservoir dams should go out, as all dams are likely to do, it would wipe out their whole slack-water system. I am against this proposition because it is embarking the State on a scheme to build 17 reservoirs, which would put the headwaters of the western part of the State under water and involve the expenditure of fifty millions of dollars. There is only one place in this country in which this system of control is used, and that is at Cairo. Let me tell you the result in that locality. I will again read from the report of the United States engineers, which says, on page 6, paragraph 10:

"The total capacity of the reservoir system proposed by the Pittsburgh Flood Commission is about 59,500,000,000 cubic feet, including Cheat No. 1, merely to give a definite notion of what this figure means it may be well to mention that the system of reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi River has a total capacity of 95,000,000,000 of cubic feet, and this system is not adequate to give desirable control of the Mississippi River at St. Paul, the Ohio at Pittsburgh and the Mississippi at St. Paul being comparable streams."

At St. Paul they have the flood controlled by reservoirs as is proposed by this commission. They control nearly twice as great a volume of water as proposed by the Flood Commission, and the report of the United States engineers says: "This system is not adequate to give desirable control of the Mississippi River at St. Paul, the Ohio at Pittsburgh and the Mississippi at St. Paul being comparable streams."

I regret very much that this project has come along at the same time as the Pymatuning Swamp proposition. There may be some merit to the damming of the Pymatuning Swamp. I can see none in this. The Pymatuning Swamp project has been given most careful consideration. The Water Supply Commission of our State made a careful examination of it. They reported to the effect that it was a very reasonable proposition, and we have adopted that report. The name of the Water Supply Commission has been attached to this bill. They claim to know nothing about it, and are unwilling to commit themselves to the proposed plan. The fair thing to do would be to have this commission go into this proposition on the Youghiogheny and examine it and report to us, and if they agree that it is a good idea, then this Legislature would be in a position to fairly and impartially consider it.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides an appropriation to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania of $500,000 for the construction, maintenance and operation of a storage reservoir for flood prevention and stream regulation on the headwaters of the Youghiogheny River.

This reservoir is one of a system of seventeen chosen by the engineers of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission to completely control floods above and at Pittsburgh and to reduce the flood heights in the upper Ohio River. The system of reservoirs in question was chosen after an extensive study and comprehensive survey covering a period of four years, embracing the nineteen thousand square miles of the watersheds of the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers and their tributaries and costing $125,000 contributed by the citizens of Pittsburgh.

The plans of the Flood Commission were presented to Congress in 1911 and sent to the National Waterways Commission for report. This resulted in an unqualified endorsement of that body. A further report was secured from the United States Army engineers and this, while declaring the proposed reservoirs would prevent floods, minimized the effect which the Flood Commission claimed the storing of water during flood season and releasing it at times of drought, would have upon navigation. The civilian engineers of the United States Government were of the opinion that navigation would be materially affected.

With the two engineering branches of the National Government divided on this question, the State of Pennsylvania is now asked through this bill to provide a demonstration, which if successful will result in national aid being forthcoming to complete the system. That this reservoir will materially reduce flood heights no one questions and prominent engineers confidently predict that navigation will be so vastly improved that the National Government is certain to be impressed.

The Youghiogheny River was selected because it is a small stream and one reservoir will completely regulate it. With a successful demonstration at hand National aid is almost certain to be forthcoming.

In addition to preventing floods and aiding navigation this reservoir will do much to improve sanitary conditions along the river and improve the water for domestic and manufacturing purposes.

It is needless to enter into a discussion of the desirability of preventing floods. It is one of the greatest subjects before the people of this country to-day. Here is an opportunity for Pennsylvania to take the lead by passing this bill.

By voting for this bill the Republican members can redeem a plank in their last State platform, which reads: "Particularly do we deem it advisable for the State of Pennsylvania to take a firm grasp upon its water problems. Transportation, flood prevention, reclamation, sewerage, water power and other incidents of water flow are questions of extreme importance to the Commonwealth. While these questions present different aspects from the National, the State and the municipal viewpoints, their solution cannot be adequately and efficiently effected except by some plan of harmonious co-operative action. The State of Pennsylvania, standing, as it does, between the Federal Government, with multitudinous demands pressing upon it, and the counties and municipalities, with their limited powers, must take the lead in the preparation of a comprehensive plan of development.

"We pledge the enactment of laws permitting and providing for joint action and joint contribution of funds for these purposes. We pledge immediate State appropriations for the improvement of the Delaware River and the Port of Philadelphia, and for flood prevention in the western part of the State."

The Delaware River and the Port of Philadelphia have been cared for, we ask for the relief in the western part of the State.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BIGGER. Yes.

Mr. GLENN. I would like the gentleman to state how much this dam would reduce the flood crest at Pittsburgh, taking the highest flood they had there—35 feet?

Mr. BIGGER. I think it would be impossible for anyone to state that exactly, but it is conceded by the engineers who have investigated this matter that it would be considerable. Some claim it would be from 34 to 22.

Mr. GLENN. By this one dam?

Mr. BIGGER. Yes. It will control that district.

Mr. GLENN. For the benefit of the gentleman from Allegheny, I will answer that question. He is evidently not acquainted with his own proposition. From calculations made by me from the estimates made by the Pittsburgh Flood Commission, I can tell the gentleman from Allegheny that this dam as proposed, if existing at the time of Pittsburgh's greatest flood, the 35.5 foot stage, would not have reduced that flood level more than two inches at the very most.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to what point he refers?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, at the gauging place on the Ohio River; at whatever place they take this gauge.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman at what particular point?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, wherever you gauge; at that point along the Ohio River.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, don't the gentleman know that the greatest flood they have had in Pittsburgh since 1907, was something like thirty-six feet?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, reading from the report, in 1907, 35 and 5-10 feet.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, is it where the Allegheny joins the Monongahela?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, wherever the gauge is taken.

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Glenn, says that the highest water in Pittsburgh in 1907 was 35 5-10 feet. In the building of this system of reservoirs, it would relieve the crest of the high water over seven feet. Is it not a fact that Pittsburgh don't suffer from high water until we get from 29 to 30 feet and the building of these dams might eliminate millions of dollars of loss in Pittsburgh. This House has voted money, and plenty of it, to the eastern part of the State for the improvement of the waterways and we ask to be helped out on this proposition in the western part of the State for the saving of money to the City of Pittsburgh and other sections of the western part of the State.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Semmens.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker I would like to ask the gentleman, is it not a fact that by building a system of dykes at an expense of some fifteen million dollars they could accomplish the same results?

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, I am not an engineer and, therefore, cannot answer that question.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I will refer the gentleman to his own report, in which this fact is so stated.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Glenn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman state that this would be entirely a Pittsburgh proposition?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir, practically.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is absolutely mistaken. The section along the Youghiogheny, the Allegheny and the Monongahela—the whole Ohio Valley—will be benefited by the proposition.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the proposed system of dykes extending down the river for a number of miles will not accomplish the same thing?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is referring to the fact that this is a Pittsburgh proposition. I would like to know how he knows whether or not these dams will protect the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, that is exactly the proposition I am trying to bring before this House; nobody knows.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, we ask for a trial and that representative of a particular locality he has to respond to the great floods and the damage that is done to Pittsburgh and that section of the country in Western Pennsylvania that we deserve to have a trial.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, they are asking for this trial at an expense to the State of Pennsylvania ultimately of not less than fifty million dollars. I think it is rather an expensive trial.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Glenn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state or inform the House how he voted on the Pymatuning Dam proposition?

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I voted "No."

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am satisfied that the gentleman from Venango is not representing on this floor of this House on the merit or lack of merit on this question, but that the position of the people of his district compel him to argue against this proposition and of course he as a representative of a particular locality he has to respond to the will of his constituents although he is not doing the right thing for the State of Pennsylvania or for the Pittsburgh district in particular. We can go on and argue as long as we like but we know that a single fact is worth a ship load of argument. We know that every year the Pittsburgh district is flooded and that the waters reach up at flood stage and cause a great deal of damage and that the annual cost to Pittsburgh alone is probably five million dollars or more. I think the city of Pittsburgh and the entire Ohio Valley should be protected against this annual loss. We are satisfied from the report of the most competent engineers that could be secured that these floods can be prevented and to prove our conviction in that belief, the citizens of Pittsburgh from their own private funds have spent something like $200,000 or more for the purpose of securing accurate information on the subject and we submitted this impartial information to the Federal Government engineers and while they agreed with our proposition so far as it concerns flood prevention, the Federal engineers don't agree with us simply on the proposition of navigation and all the information which my friend has read relates to the question of inter-state navigation only and not flood prevention, and if my friend from Venango doubts my statement, let him show me anything in the report to the contrary. It seems to me that as we have a section that needs protection and as the people from the eastern part of the State got all that was promised to them in the way of river and harbor improvements and the people all over the State have gotten the benefit of what was promised them, why should not Pittsburgh receive the benefit of this appropriation and permit the State of Pennsylvania to undertake this work. The cost is not as great as the annual losses we suffer every year and the sanitation conditions, at those times, in the community, are such that after each flood it is positively dangerous to the life and health of the citizens in the flooded districts. It seems to me, on this account, the best investment that the State can possibly make, if it will not do any more than prevent the annual loss of life and the detriment to health, aside from eliminating entirely the possibility of flood or bringing about flood prevention, I am satisfied that it is the best investment the State can make. If the gentleman will look at it from a broad basis rather as representing the narrow wish of a small constituency I think he will favor the proposition.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I consider it very unfortunate that the Pymatuning Dam proposition or Swamp bill came along with this measure. There was considerable merit in the Swamp bill. Two years ago, they enlisted the assistance of the Water Supply Commission in their work and the Water Supply Commission went there and made a fair and impartial investigation and came back and reported favorably. To show you the fallacy of the argument of the gentleman from Allegheny, the Water Supply Commission has not received notice of this present proposition at all. This dam is located on the Maryland State line, the dam proper is in Pennsylvania but the waters are all backed up into Maryland, while this bill gives the State of Pennsylvania the right of eminent domain, it cannot extend that right over into Maryland. The minute this dam starts to fill up and the water backs up into their territory, we will have a case to settle in court. By referring to the map of this proposed dam, you will see there is a cemetery inside the limits of its waters, an additional obstacle to its construction. They asked for one million dollars for its construction. The appropriation has been cut down to $500,000. The United States Army engineers who have been building dams on the Monongahela and Ohio Rivers for the last twenty-five years or more say that this dam cannot be built at the price that the Pittsburgh Flood Commission says that it can. They say that the amount of land damages alone will be not less than $880,000.00 and the total cost of the project, taking the same price for the dam proper as the Pittsburgh Flood Commission estimates it, will be not less than $1,742,000.00.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, this proposition involves the expenditure of many millions of dollars for the construction of dams across the various streams in western Pennsylvania. We might know how this proposition, as a proposition has worked out in other sections. We know that in this section during times of high water they have caused great loss of life and property, where they have broken, and that is the logical conclusion to draw from this proposition, if it were to go through. In Pittsburgh, there is a vast territory where it has destroyed many homes and if this dam would be built, it would probably result in breaking and destroying lives in the very places where they are intended to protect. I hope the House will vote this bill down.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw by motion to strike the bill from the calendar in order that the bill may be placed before the House on its merits.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact as it has just been said that while the dam proper will be in Pennsylvania almost the entire reservoir will be in the State of Maryland?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, according to this bill, that is the proposition.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, that question I am unable to answer.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I will answer it for the gentleman. The Legislature of the State of Maryland has at the present time done nothing. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny. How can the State of Pennsylvania or the Water Commission acquire property in the State of Maryland without the consent of the sovereign state?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, that question I am unable to answer. I am not well enough up in law. I would only answer that that bill depends entirely upon the action of the Maryland Legislature.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the question for the benefit of the gentleman from Allegheny. No sovereign state can acquire territory in another sovereign state without getting the consent of the second state.

Mr. STEELE. That is what I answered.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny. What estimate has the Pittsburgh Flood Commission made, if any, as to the cost of the maintenance of these dams?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I suppose that they have made some estimates as to the cost of the maintenance of these dams, but that I am unable to answer also. I might state that this is a question of such large proportions that it will be impossible for anybody to say that definitely.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I further desire to interrogate the gentleman. In any part of the book or report of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission, do they attempt in any way to give an estimate of the cost of maintenance of these dams or attempt in any way to show how the maintenance shall be taken care of??

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I am unable to answer that.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of fact, while I searched this report of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission, I have been unable to find anything which in any way would give us an idea as to how much it would cost to maintain these dams. Now, Mr. Speaker, this is a stupendous proposition as I understand it. The height of these dams will range anywhere from 70 to 180 feet. The cost of maintenance must necessarily be terrific in order to avoid the danger of a repetition of the disasters which we have seen occur in at least two instances in my memory. It would be necessary to have skilled engineers or men skilled in this particular line of work to make almost daily or weekly inspections. In addition to that, in the report of the Flood Commission, they attempt to show that the cost of erection of these flood dams will in a measure be offset by the revenue obtained from private power companies and the benefit obtainable from the aid to navigation. Now, Mr. Speaker, it strikes me that that fact is significant. In addition to that, in the report of the United States Government engineers, the Army engineers, it is specifically mentioned that in many of these sites, in fact almost all of them, private enterprises have in view the undertaking of this same thing,—in other words, building dams for power purposes. And the United States engineers say in their report that the end will as well be accomplished by them as by this undertaking of the State. Now, Mr. Speaker, that strikes me as very significant. Of course it would be much nicer for a private corporation to have this State extend $50,000,000 and turn over to them the power that may be derived from these dams. I do not accuse the Pittsburgh gentleman of any bad faith, but it seems to me that is a very significant point which should be considered by us before we vote on this proposition. It has been frankly acknowledged by the gentleman from Allegheny to be the merest kind of an experiment. Now, gentlemen, let us consider this proposition. That provision in connection with the benefit to navigation and to power. Now, I think it will be conceded by everyone that in order to derive benefits to navigation and to power, the dams must be kept full; in order to prevent floods, the dams must be kept empty. Now where is going to be the golden mean by which we can have a full dam and very opportunely let it out gradually so as to in no way interfere with the territory flooded at the psychological moment when there is possibility of a flood. Now, this proposition, while it may be true that 80 per cent. of the floods occur between November and April, still we will all admit there have been floods at other times. The most disastrous flood in the history of this State occurred long after that time. There is not a man in this House, I venture to say, or very few who cannot remember the flood of 1889 which occurred in June. Now, gentlemen, I submit that at such a time as that, as has been pointed out by the gentleman from Elk, one of those dams would become a terrific menace to any community along the borders of the stream below. The constitutional question of the right of the State of Pennsylvania to acquire and use property in the State of Maryland, to my mind, gentlemen, is insurmountable. I believe that this question should be decided on by you here today and that the whole proposition should be voted down almost unanimously.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I expect to vote for this bill and I want to tell the House why I am going to vote for it. The remarks of the gentleman, who I understand is an attorney, indicate that he does not understand the case in detail as presented and his argument has no bearing. He speaks of the expense of maintaining a dam. Now, there is not an agriculturist, not a person who lives in the rural part of our State who does not know that after a dam has been built properly it will stand for 100 or 1,000 years without expending anything for maintenance; and so far as the cost of maintenance is concerned, that is practically nil. So going into this proposition and interrogating members of the House as to the expense of maintaining a dam does not concern this question in any way in my mind. I believe that the parties who have charge of this project, namely the Water Commission of the State of Pennsylvania, whose duties I believe all the members of the House know as well as I do, that is to take up this question of water conservation and all other matters pertaining to our public streams, and they will have the power and control over this proposition. It will necessarily be their duty to consider the project before they start to spend the State's money. I have enough faith in voting for this bill to feel that in taking up any proposition of this character that if they find the proposition not feasible or one that is not worth the expenditure of the State's money they will not embark in it, but to undertake to go into detail as to just exactly what is going to be done. I do not suppose there is a man living today that can answer that question. The proposition has not been gone into in detail. To my mind, the proposition before this House is simply this: Do you have enough faith in the Water Commission of this State to believe that after carefully examining this proposition and if they have enough money to carry out a practicable and feasible plan, of damming some water at some point in the State of Pennsylvania, that the expense of doing so will be well repaid by the returns or will come from the benefit to the citizens of that locality, perhaps the citizens of the whole State? If you do have that faith, then you can support this bill. If you do not have that faith, then you should vote against this bill. The fact that we will provide the Commission with $500,000 to carry out the ideas containing in the creation of the department known as the Water Commission of this State, controlling those questions that are now nation-wide, that the National Government has been dealing with for several years and every year spends more and more money; when any money is asked for, then if each and every member of Congress must be permitted to go into detail and explain the exact process, the exact cost of maintenance, there never would be any appropriations for propositions similar to this. Now this Water Commission will have the say whether this is practical in the locality indicated in the bill. Only the other evening the State of Pennsylvania appropriated $450,000 for the construction of one dam in one particular place in this State. I do not believe that if the men who have charge of that proposition, if upon examination find it to be impractical, will expend the money. I voted for the bill with that faith that it is a practical proposition and that it in return must compensate the citizens for the money expended, and that is the reason I am going to vote for this bill. I don't think that any member in the House should expect a detailed account of just exactly what it would cost to build a dam, exactly where it will be located, exactly the community that will be benefited. The whole proposition is not one that has been gone into by anyone to that extent. It is true there have been reports made along those lines and suggestions made as to whether it would be wise to embark on a certain project covering a certain territory. If, in your judgment and upon further examination, you have any doubt that this is a feasible proposition, you should not vote for the bill, but those are the reasons why I am going to support this bill.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Sure.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what investigation the Water Supply Commission has made in this proposition?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. The present State Water Commission?

Mr. FORSTER. Yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, that is one of the very class of questions that in my opinion does not amount to anything whatever because they probably have not had time to take this matter up finally so as to answer in detail to this Legislature where they will locate their dams and exactly what will be affected. Naturally I cannot answer that question. I have tried to make that plain to the House when I was speaking, that going into the details and answering such questions as the gentleman from Philadelphia asked the gentleman from Pittsburgh is absolutely an unfair proposition and the House should not become biased simply because the gentleman from Pittsburgh could not answer in detail all those technical matters that have been submitted to him.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware. Do I understand the gentleman from Delaware to say that there would be no cost in the maintenance of these dams, or practically none?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I thought I stated that very plainly. I will repeat it. I stated that a dam properly constructed, from my observations of about fifty years, that a dam once properly constructed with the material that is used nowadays in dam construction, namely concrete, would practically stand without a large outlay for a period of a thousand years. Now, whether there might be a little break around the edge or in one corner or another would not cost much to repair. It practically becomes stone; in fact is supposed to last longer than stone and longer than any of the ordinary minerals.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware and ask him if he knows of what material the Austin dam was constructed?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, only from newspaper reports, and my understand is that at the time that dam was built some years ago very little experience was obtainable as to the relative proportions of the construction of that dam. My understanding now is that it is one of the principles of building that a dam to be perfectly safe should be as wide at the base as at the top. The Austin dam was not so constructed.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that the Austin dam was constructed of concrete?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. It is a fact that no doubt not only the Austin dam was constructed of concrete, but of course years ago, and that no doubt in the past many other dams constructed of concrete were not constructed along scientific lines. Now scientific lines means the lines demonstrated by experience to be amply and sufficiently strong in the base support in proportion to the altitude. Now that matter is at the present time so thoroughly understood, I believe by our engineers—if I be not correct, then surely the work done on the Panama canal involving hundreds of millions of dollars is simply an experiment. I don't believe it is. I believe that no civil engineer today would construct a dam like the newspapers indicate that the Austin dam was constructed.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I find that I was in error when I made the statement that there was nothing in the report of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission with respect to the cost of the maintenance of this system of dams, because after all we must consider this as a broad proposition involving the whole seventeen sites. On page 155 of the report of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission under the heading of "Maintenance and Operation," the cost is estimated at $200,000.00 per year.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman from Delaware if the State Water Supply Commission has anything to do with this proposition?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, my understanding is that the State Water Supply Commission has many powers and great control over propositions similar to that involved in this bill and to illustrate that to the House—I have not carefully examined the powers of the Water Supply Commission, but I do know this, that about four or six years ago the Pymatuning Swamp people, no doubt it was them, had a bill introduced in the Legislature to drain the Pymatuning Swamp. I realized that the Water Supply Commission of the State—I do not know whether by persuasion or by powers—had succeeded in preventing the expenditure of that money for that purpose. Now in this Legislature we have a bill that I voted for and as I understand the subject I am glad to know that I did vote for it, to dam that very identical land that we were formerly going to drain. I presume that proposition similar to this will be under the supervision and control, to some extent, of the Water Supply Commission of the State. Now the gentleman, no doubt, is nearer to this proposition than myself. I have told him what I know about the powers of the Water Supply Commission, and I would like to interrogate him and ask what he knows about the powers of the Water Supply Commission. I do not want to be misunderstood on the bill. I am simply supporting it because I know it is right.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Glenn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that this debate has certainly proceeded with great deliberation.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, just one question. I would like to ask him how he voted on the Pymatuning Swamp proposition.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I already stated that.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask him if he did not say on the floor of this House that he considered it a very meritorious measure.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly did.

Mr. STEELE. The gentleman voted "No" on the proposition. I would like to ask him whether or not he was sincere in his vote.

The SPEAKER. That would not be relevant to the matter now under discussion.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, is it not a fact that there is a large amount of water coming down those streams that is proposed to be dammed, all the time?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, no there is not.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. There is sufficient water to fill this dam?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I should say that there is not, sometimes, because in the summer months the water is very low.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, where does it go.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I say we are below the junction.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Isn't there sufficient water at the time of high flood to fill the dam?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I am not capable of saying that.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, suppose the dam is full and this water still pouring in there, can you build a dam to run the water up stream?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, the same amount of water would be still flowing over, that is below the dam. Oh, absolutely yes.

The SPEAKER. As the yeas and nays have been called on the motion to strike the bill from the calendar, we will have to take a roll call unless that motion is withdrawn.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Whereupon,

The Speaker in the presence of the House signed the same.

RESOLUTION RE-REFERRING CONFERENCE REPORT ON HOUSE BILL NO. 183.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT presented a resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives (if the Senate concur), That the conference report of House Bill 183, file folio 12007, be re-referred to the conference committee for the purpose of further consideration and report.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this resolution applies to the utilities bill. The conference committee appointed by the House and by the Senate have come to an agreement upon a great many of the amendments. The conferees of the House have done a great deal of good work, but I think there are a good many other items which I think the sponsor of the bill himself would like to have accomplished and see whether or not he can bring the Senators to an agreement so that the bill can be put in still better shape. I have conferred with the sponsors of the bill and the members of the conference committee, and there has been no opposition.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the conference committee on this bill took the matter up immediately after we were appointed last evening. We arranged for a meeting with the conference committee of the Senate and we were in session until quite a late hour this morning. At first it appeared from the opposition of the Senate that we were not going to be able to accomplish anything. They were firmly set in insisting upon their amendments and it looked for a considerable time as if the bill would absolutely go down. But finally, after going on for a time, we got a lot of concessions and put back into the bill a number of very vital sections that the Senate had stricken out. In view of that, as you gentlemen know who have been in such conference sessions, we had to make some concessions to the other side, and while there are some sections and parts that the Senate has stricken out and I would earnestly like to see in the bill, yet I believe that the bill is in such shape that it is a good bill. But if there would be any reasonable chance of getting back into the bill one or more sections of very vital importance, I would be willing to make a further trial, but my firm opinion is that we cannot do it. And yet, with this statement, if it is the sense of the House to send the bill back to the conference committee, I will do all I possibly can.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Yes, sir.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Tioga whether he thinks it possible for the conference committee to get together this afternoon and have the bill ready for the printer so that the House may take action on it later on.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, if there should be any amendments in the conference committee, it would have to be reprinted and I do not think it could be gotten through today at all.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desired to bring out for the information of the House the fact that the utilities bill under this resolution is in some jeopardy and I do not think it fair for the House to pass this resolution which in fact would mean the destruction of the whole utilities bill. Now, if the bill is a good bill and at the same time, as the members of the House have not been able to read it, we must depend upon the report of the conference committee that the bill is a good bill, why then develop the possibility of defeating the bill by sending it back to the conference committee when there will be no chance of its coming out again and being passed at this session? In this connection the House must rely upon the chairman of the conference committee as to his judgment as to whether or not this bill can be gotten in shape so that this House can act upon it this session. And I would like to know whether or not we are going to act upon a utilities bill that is worth acting on, or whether or not the utilities bill is going to be destroyed.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand the gentleman from Tioga who is chairman of the conference committee to say that an agreement was reached late this morning. Is that agreement in such form that it can now be submitted to the printer? If the bill has already been submitted to the printer and the printer is working on it to get it in form and the House can make further advances in the bill by referring it back to the conference committee, it would take but a very few hours for the insertion of a small portion of reading matter. The House will certainly be in no bad position by extending the time to enable making further changes when the printer is already working on the bill and will be able to present it to this House in the course of a few hours. It occupies the same position, Mr. Speaker, in relation to this House, that the resolution of yesterday had, to extend the time one day for further work. The time limit has been extended; this work is completed; the time limit was extended for the purpose of doing further work, and the time limit is extended by this resolution to enable the conference committee to do further work. And I feel, Mr. Speaker, that the resolution should be adopted.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I think in justice to the House I should make a little further statement. If this bill went into the hands of the joint committee of the Senate and House, would go there with the purpose of getting a bill which would be a better bill, one that both branches of this General Assembly could accept. As one of the members of the joint Senate and House committee, I thought we did have such a bill when it left the joint committee. The House passed the bill and it remained in the hands of the Senate for weeks. It was only reported out finally within the last 48 hours of the time fixed for final adjournment and it was only passed by the Senate within less than twenty-four hours of the time of final adjournment. When it came to our notice, it was so emasculated with amendments that I for one would not have stood for it for one instant. My thought was that it was the intention of the Senate to defeat the bill entirely and I thought so up until late last evening. Now, there are a number of members in the Senate,—whether some of them are on the conference committee or not I will not state,—but there are a number of them would like to see the bill defeated entirely. Now my thought is, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, that if this bill is again referred back to the conference committee it must then be absolutely agreed upon before it can come out of the conference committee again. If opposition should develop on the part of certain Senators who don't want the bill to become a law, the House conferees could not bring the bill out of the conference committee. I simply make that suggestion with a view of showing you how it is possible to jeopardize the bill by sending it back to the conference committee.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that we should have any fear about this conference report's going back to the conference committee. There are at least two items in this bill which ought to be corrected, and they undoubtedly can be corrected if the house conferees stand for some time in their position of insisting upon them. There is one provision in this bill as it now comes from the conference committee which makes a public utility a perpetual monopoly. If a public utility has a business in a municipality under the bill as it left the House, that municipality had the right to purchase. The bill as it left this House gave the municipality the right to purchase at a fair price the public utility's business. But also in this bill there was a provision that a municipality could not go into a competing business with a utility without the consent of the Commission. Now what has been done by the Senate? They have left in the provision that keeps a municipality from going into business without the consent of the Commission and they have cut out the provision where the Commission refuses to give to that municipality the right to buy that business at a fair consideration. It gives to that utility a perpetual monopoly. Now I have no fear of this bill going back to that Conference Committee. There sits on that Conference Committee a Senator who yesterday voiced the people's voice and said that he insisted on honest actions by this Legislature and has brought to almost now a conclusion on the State-Wide Primary, and that Senator represents the Senate and is one of the conferees and sits there in that conference committee and I have no doubt that our three conferees, standing for what is right, that there will be mutual action that comes from the Senate conferees and there can be no reason for the refusal of this concurrent resolution, to vote it down merely because we want the time. We have here a reply from the gentleman from Philadelphia, that a portion of the bill has been changed, if the conferees from the House are successful and if there is no success nothing has to be changed. So surely the printer can bring out that bill and we can vote for it tomorrow. But as the Speaker said to the House, don't be too sure about going away tomorrow. You are likely to have another concurrent resolution to extend another day or two. But will that delay us? It is but honest for the House to give the gentleman from Tioga, the sponsor of this bill, who has worked so hard on the bill, the power to go back and insist upon eliminating this one element in this bill.

Then there is another element which takes away from the Commission the power of extension. That means if a utility brings it service to one town and beyond that is a smaller town, that they are not going to extend their utilities to, they can go to the town or pass along the border and let the little town beyond go without any aid. The way the bill comes from the Conference Committee that was the law; but in the bill that left the House the Commission has the power to say, "you extend onto that small town." Now, I say that is what a Public Utilities is for and that is just and we should give the gentleman from Tioga an opportunity to go back into conference and there insist on the House's right upon these two amendments. He has worked all night upon this bill and has worked faithfully in the House and he has worked months in the Committee and he has worked on the floor of this House and many of us have opposed him as to certain amendments; then we joined with him to put through a bill and we now stand with the gentleman from Tioga and are trying to put through this bill. Now let us allow him an opportunity and don't allow all the persuasion that is spoken of here of being fearful of going to a conference that we won't have time for the printer to do the work. The work is going to be done. Don't let that control you. This bill is going through. Don't you feel that the Senate is really on the ropes and that we are going to keep them there. Let us go back home with the legislation we promised the people we are going to give them.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, we want to act very cautiously in this matter and intelligently. We have a proposition here that according to the report of the Conference Committee is very much better than the conditions we now have in our State relating to this subject, dealt with by the Utility bill. I am not confident myself as to whether it is safe to send it back; in other words, take the action to send the bill back. In my judgment the wisest thing to do is to lay the bill upon the table for the present and retain possession of that bill. If it is then the wish of the House that the Conference Committee again meet and confer with the Senators, we will at least have without doubt in our possession the bill in its present form and then when we get ready to act upon the passage of the bill we will in the meantime have the opportunity of examining it and satisfying ourselves as to whether it is better to pass it or better to defeat it, but to be guarded as to losing possession of this bill. We passed one resolution in this House placing ourselves entirely under the control of the Senate. I do not believe that the members who voted for the adjournment thought they were doing what they were. Keep possession of this bill. I therefore move that the bill be laid upon the table for the present, that to be followed, if it is the suggestion of any member, who thinks it wise, that the conferees be again requested to confer with the Senate conferees.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. You cannot possibly move to lay this bill upon the table, when this resolution is under consideration.

The SPEAKER. The suggestion is not subject to a point of order.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I just made that as a suggestion. My thought is to do it in that way.

The SPEAKER. A suggestion is not subject to a point of order.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Then, Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the resolution again read that is before us. It is simply a conference report.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read again. The Chair will state for the information of the House that the Conference Committee have reported and the conference report is in the hands of the House being printed.

The resolution was again read by the Clerk.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Then, Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that further consideration of this resolution be postponed for the present and after that is decided then we can take up the question of instructing our conferees to again confer with the Senate committee and I move the further consideration of the resolution be postponed for the present.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain debate upon this motion.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. The gentleman from Delaware reminds me of the story which Mark Twain used to tell of himself. He said that his brain is so large that it always takes him two weeks to make it up and during that time the crisis had passed and then he was inclined to make up his mind not to do what he really wanted to do. The suggestion to postpone in this crisis is to place the bill in the hands of the printer, that there is not sufficient time to print the bill. We are at the crisis now. We must decide. It is impossible for anybody who has not carefully read over this bill and I say it as one of those who have been interested in it and looked into it, to understand what an enormously complicated subject it is. There is tremendous amount of vitally important matter for consideration there and conceded in the different paragraphs and it seems to me that the victory which has been achieved by the conferees in the short time, was absolutely marvelous, and on account of the enormous nature of the subject it is evident from the report—we have been able to partly see it before being printed—from the nature of that report that there are one or two subjects at least that have escaped from the Conferees without full consideration, that they could not give it without more time. Now in the conference report before us, which is a tremendous advance over the Senate Bill, there are two or three things of vital importance that might be changed, and by concentrating the attention on these two or three things, the rest of the bill being out of the way, it is believed by the people urging these amendments, that vastly more can be achieved if the matter can be put back again for further consideration. I do not believe that the Senate will have the hardihood now that we have accomplished what we have, to stand out on these things, nor do I think that they will have the hardihood to defeat the bill, and I think it is safe to do that and give the Committee more chance. It is of vital importance to do this now. In the next two years we cannot do anything and at the end of two years the conditions may change with the Public Utilities and the corporations and they will again be in the saddle. Therefore now is the proper time to get the proper bill and this motion is a proper motion to pass.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I hope the House will understand that there is only one question before us and that is the question of procedure and to my mind the safe course of procedure is to postpone further consideration of the report at the present time, but that there is no question of doubt as to whether or not we retain possession of the bill. There is no doubt in my mind that if you pursue the other course as to whether we do not lose possession of the bill. Now if we postpone consideration for the present and our conferees could again go back they could then accomplish just as much as if we pursued the course that will have some doubts about it and why should we put in that doubt when we can play safe. There is no doubt in my mind that we should hold possession of the ground that we have obtained. From the gentleman from Tioga we have a bill that would vastly improve conditions at least and will not make it any worse in any respect. Therefore I would ask the House, if it is in harmony with the view of the Chairman of the Committee, that further consideration be postponed and then ask that the House give further instructions to the conferees.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, sure.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware if the House were to delay action on the report of the Conference Committee which is now in the hands of the House and to retain possession of that report, with what would the Conference Committee be armed to approach the Senate for consideration?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that, my presumption is that the three men representing the Senate are honorable men and my presumption is that the three men representing the House are honorable men. I believe they will consider the proposition further and wisely in a conference under those conditions, as it would if it had the bill laying on the table in front of them.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to answer—

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman asked me a question and I want to answer it in my own way.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I simply asked the gentleman with what would the Committee approach a proper conference, or with what would the Committee on Conference on the part of the House approach the Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate, or what would they have before them to consider?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. That is the same question. I can only answer as to what I would do under the circumstances. As to what the Committee will do, I cannot say. They can answer for themselves. Were I on the Committee I would go to the Committee and say that certain features of this bill as amended are very objectionable to the House and point out to them wherein it was objectionable to the House and undoubtedly as a member of the Conference Committee I would agree with the House.

Now I believe that we could then get their wishes and opinions just as well under those conditions as we could if we passed the bill over. If I felt confident that the action taken by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. J. R. K. Scott, were the right one, then I would vote for it and hasten the work. But I am in doubt. If the members of the House agree with me, I hope they will support my proposition to postponed the consideration of this for the present, and in the meantime let the committee take the matter up.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Delaware is satisfied with the integrity and honor of the members of the Senate, certainly he would have no hesitancy in placing in their hands the Conference Committee report. Of course if they would take the action that as the bill was returned to them after it was reported, that they would now undo all they have done, they would be accused of unfair means, and of course that would be dishonorable and disreputable. It is not an official document until placed in the hands of a conference committee by the action of somebody now in possession of the document itself. If the gentleman believes that they would consider the bill in question on their honor, then and in that event he could have no hesitancy in placing the document in the hands of those same gentlemen for their consideration. One other word; by the action of laying this bill on the table at this time—

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. I did not move to lay it on the table. I moved for a postponement of the consideration of it.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, all this is taking time, that ought to be used for something else. If you are going to lay this on the table now, if you are going to delay further consideration of this matter, when are you going to have any results from anybody dealing with this matter. Like the gentleman from Delaware, while at times I have some doubts about the sincerity perhaps of some of the gentlemen on the other side of the House, nevertheless I believe they are all of standing, that they can be entrusted with a document of this kind to do their uttermost, and I am sure that the gentlemen who represent this House on this matter certainly can be entrusted with this matter.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to be misunderstood on this, but I desire to ask the gentleman if he would vote for this bill as it stands now, and as he understands it, if it were to go to a vote on final passage.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the bill at this time, I would probably vote for it, but under protest, and great protest.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the House that I am earnestly in favor of the legislation contained in this bill, as every member of the House knows. I am going to support it in the very best form that the Conference Committee can report it. I do not think the gentleman from Allegheny should raise the question that he does. While I have confidence in my neighbors, I keep my bank deposit in my own name, and it is no suggestion that I have no confidence in the Senate, if I place a deposit of their own in a savings institution or any other institution. We have it in our possession, and I think it ought to rest their for the present. If the Chairman of the committee will agree to a postponement for the present, I would ask the House to do that.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, just a word in regard to our work on the bill. We worked until two o'clock this morning. After that Mr. Meals and I worked until four o'clock to check up the amendments and make the bill right for the printer. It has been in the printers hands since four o'clock this morning, and they have been working on it continuously since that time, and the reports we have is that it cannot be gotten here until about three o'clock this afternoon, making at least twenty-three hours. I am informed by a man experienced in the printing business, that if any more amendments were made the bill would have to be all reprinted, and a new bill absolutely made up. I think the section mentioned by the gentleman from Philadelphia is a good section, and ought to be in the bill. I tried to have it put in the bill, but could not accomplish it, because we had to make certain concessions to get the bill as it is. This matter might be held over for an hour, and after that consideration and giving us time for a little conference, we may be in better shape to go on with it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might state to the House that the Senate has taken a recess until five o'clock, and this resolution could not be acted upon by the Senate until five o'clock in any event. The gentleman from Tioga will proceed.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the only thing further I have to say that if you defer this for an hour or so, it will give us a chance to consult about it. And Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the motion—

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

RESOLUTION POSTPONED.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that consideration of this resolution be postponed for two hours.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion. On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, if the House wants to defeat this resolution at all, it might as well defeat it now. If this resolution should pass the House now, and the members of the conference committee decide they will go into conference again, then the resolution will be concurred in by the Senate, but if they decide that they will not, then the resolution will not be concurred in. So Mr. Speaker, we might as well pass upon it one way or the other now. If we adopt this resolution it would give to the sponsor of the bill the aid of the House to bring this bill back to the House, a bill that he as sponsor might be proud of. Therefore I feel that the gentleman should withdraw his motion.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia takes, I think a very peculiar position in regard to this resolution. He knows very well that the gentleman from Tioga nor any one else can go to the Senate and see two or three of the members and find out from them if they will concur in this resolution. The suggestion made by the gentleman from Tioga that this lie over for an hour is to my mind a good one, as it would give them an opportunity of ascertaining what might be accomplished. I think that the temper of the House is for a defeat of this resolution. The motion now before the House is to postpone this until four o'clock. What time do we lose? We will have the benefit of an hour and three quarters, and give the members representing the House and the members representing the Senate a chance to meet, and we will know what to do intelligently at four o'clock. I earnestly hope that the gentlemen of the House will support the motion of the gentleman from Tioga.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, that places us in this position; if the members of the Conference Committee on the part of the Senate report to the Senate that they will not confer again, then the Senate will not adopt this resolution, but if they report that they will confer, then the Senate will adopt it. If the members of the Senate committee says that they will not recede one step or in any way go back, then the Senate will not concur, and the bill is still in the House. The Senate has the last whack, and it makes no difference whether we take our stand two hours before or right on the minute.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am just informed that the members of the Senate conference committee are in the Senate, and that a meeting can be held immediately.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, then there can be no opposition to this motion to postpone the consideration of this resolution until four o'clock, because the Senate could not take any final action upon the resolution until that time. In the interim between this and four o'clock the conference committee can get together.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is in doubt.

Whereupon,

A division was called for, and 102 gentlemen voting in the affirmative, and 56 in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion to postpone action was agreed to.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Legislative Apportionment be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 1781, entitled:

An Act to fix the number of Representatives in the General Assembly of the State and to apportion the State into Representative Districts as provided by the Constitution

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I regret very much, after our very pleasant and congenial session, that I feel it my duty at the end of this term to offer this motion. I live in a county that is entitled to one more member. Westmoreland is entitled to a member. Allegheny is entitled to a member, and Washington County is entitled to another member. We, as citizens and representatives of this Commonwealth, feel that we are entitled to our constitutional rights and under the Constitution it is imperative upon the Apportionment Committee to district the State of Pennsylvania and give their members regardless of what it may cost the districts that are not entitled to it. Now, gentlemen—Mr. Speaker, I do not care to talk to a House that wont listen—Gentlemen, this is something that every member of this House owes to the people of Pennsylvania, equal representation. As a circumstance, I find in looking over that committee it is composed largely of the gentlemen who will lose a member. I know it is impossible now for the people from my county and those adjoining counties to get their constitutional rights, but I want it to go upon the record that we do not propose to have this Legislature adjourn without our constituents knowing that we defended their constitutional rights. Now, gentlemen, this is the question of whether you will vindicate the constitutional law under which you came here and vote for the discharge of this committee, who under their oaths under the 18th section of the Second Article of the Constitution, that says that "you shall after the decennial"—now sing on, I don't give a continental for that. You might as well quit, because I am not a quitter. This is not a question that the citizens of this Commonwealth should sing about. It is a constitutional right and I want to say that because it will disturb the Legislative districts of the City of Philadelphia in the heart, which for the last decade has ruled this State, because it disturbs their legislative districts and relegates it to the respectable end of the City of Philadelphia. That bill has been retained in this committee. Now, gentlemen, I ask in the name of the rights of the citizens of this Commonwealth and their constitutional rights, whether you will vote to sustain that committee, that after all that has been appealed to, everything that has been done to ask them to give these counties their representation, they have declined to do so. If you do that you vote squarely against the 18th section of the First Article of the Constitution, that they shall give the people of this Commonwealth their equal representation in this House. I leave it with you. If you want to vote to sustain that committee, vote for it and vote against the constitutional rights that you are enjoying here. I am through, gentlemen, thank you.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, only a few minutes to speak for the delegation from Westmoreland. I want to say to you that we have not come here on the last day of this session to second this motion without having done something before. I myself and several of the members of this delegation canvassed the Committee on Legislative Apportionment and have urged congressional apportionment. We have gotten no satisfaction, no results. We know this cannot be done, but we ask you as a matter of record only that this committee be discharged from the consideration of this bill. This is not a platform measure we admit and we know. Some of us who are most progressive in this House canvassed the Legislative Committee and they have been more retrogressive in their duties on this bill. I want to say that they were absolutely selfish. They avoided the subject. They laughed at me and I want to tell you, gentlemen, that we cannot go back to Westmoreland County and you cannot go back to your county and explain this. It looks as if this is a selfish Legislature and not a progressive Legislature and the gentleman from Indiana should be supported and this committee discharged as a matter of form and I ask the House to do it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ELY. Mr. Speaker, I call for the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would be glad to grant the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland were it not for the time that would be occupied and, strictly, this motion is not in order at all because the bill referred to could not by any possibility pass prior to the time which has been fixed for the adjournment of the Assembly. The Chair therefore cannot consistent with its duty permit so much time of the House to be occupied as would be required for this purpose.

Less than the number required by the rule having voted in the affirmative, the motion is not agreed to.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information. Cannot we obtain our constitutional rights?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that it is rather late in the session to pay respects to the Constitution.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege. Mr. Speaker, I want to say in supporting this call that this delegation has never asked the yeas and nays in this session. We would like to have this call and put those members on record who have been opposing this legislative apportionment. These gentlemen should be on record on this question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would be glad to grant the request, but under the circumstances cannot do so without unanimous consent.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like very much for those gentlemen to register their votes as to whether or not they are conscientiously in favor of supporting the Constitution of Pennsylvania or not.

Mr. ELY. Mr. Speaker, I want to say at this time that the Westmoreland delegation is satisfied with the decision of the speaker on this question. We have, however, satisfied ourselves, inasmuch as we have placed on record a majority of the House as being opposed to this proposed legislation, consequently we are satisfied with this decision.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2242 (Senate No. 1885), entitled:

An Act for the protection of trees shrubs and plants providing and regulating the licensing of persons who for hire act as dendrologists and treat trees shrubs and plants for pests regulating the use of the license and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to take up the time of the House but I think this bill ought to pass. It provides for nothing more than where a man goes about the country representing himself to the owner of land, as able to treat trees, etc., that he should be licensed. I understand there is a idea prevailing through the House that this bill would prevent the farmer or horticulturist from treating his own trees, etc. There can be no such interpretation put upon this bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I feel if the House thoroughly understood this bill it would get every vote in the House. It is a well known fact that there are men going around over the State representing that they knew something about handling and preventing the various diseases of trees and shrubbery. I appreciate that the language of this bill, in my opinion, is entirely misunderstood by those who are opposing the bill. The House will certainly agree with me that we ought to have some legislation along these lines to correct a great evil in this State. There are men going over the State pretending to know all about how to prevent diseases of trees and other horticultural and vegetable life. They are "fakes." They pretend that they are going to cure a shade tree or a fruit tree that you have, and at the time, not having a knowledge of their business they destroy the tree. We have, in our wisdom, at various times provided that no person can put his shingle and practice medicine except that he have a license and after he has satisfied a Board of Experts that he has the ability and the knowledge to practice medicine. We have also provided a law along this line as regards the veterinarian in the State of Pennsylvania. We have also provided by statute that no person shall practice as a pharmacist unless he has the ability. This bill is looking to the correction and prevention of fakes, where human and animal life is at stake. We have reached the place in our state where men are going around saying that they can cure diseases existing in vegetable life. It is a vital matter that the man who comes to you and says he can save your fruit trees or your shade trees or any tree you value on your property from dying from some disease that has attacked it, that he should be able to do it. They have gone all over the State, and there are innumerable instances where they have simply destroyed fruit and shade trees. This bill simply provides that where a person practices that as a profession, not where a man casually goes over and make a suggestion to his neighbor, but where a man puts out a shingle or mark indicating to the public that he understands this profession, notion about it, that man will not be permitted to do it, until he has passed an examination provided in this bill. This examination cost five dollars, and need not be renewed again at any time. In addition you cannot put upon the market a bill labeled as a destructive article for these diseases that are destructible to vegetable life unless it will do so. This is certainly correct. I have no more interest in this bill than you have. Those who have had the experience can appreciate this bill. It does not carry any appropriation nor create any offices or salaries.

Mr. GRABE. Mr. Speaker, section two of this bill reads as follows:

"That it shall be unlawful for any person for hire to practice the business or occupation of a dendrologist or for hire to treat any tree shrub or plant for pests unless such person shall have first obtained a license as provided in this act"

MOTION TO STRIKE FROM CALENDAR.

It is a bad bill, and I move that it be stricken from the Calendar.

Mr. MOULTHROP. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

Mr. BROSIUS. Mr. Speaker, I was in the committee when this bill came before the committee and I think the bill was carefully considered. I think every member considered that it was a good bill and I hope that you will all vote for it.

Mr. RONEY in the Chair.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GRABE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

The SPEAKER. The question recurs,

Shall the bill pass?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2240 (Senate No. 1871), as follows:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act making an appropriation to cover the deficiency in the care treatment and maintenance of the indigent insane of the Commonwealth during the period of five years beginning March first one thousand nine hundred and nine and ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen," approved the second day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the first section of the act entitled "An Act making an appropriation to cover the deficiency incurred in the care treatment and maintenance of the indigent insane of the Commonwealth during the period of five years beginning March first one thousand nine hundred and nine and ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen," approved the second day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirteen which now reads as follows

That the sum of seven hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($720,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to pay for the deficit incurred in the care treatment and maintenance of the indigent insane in the Commonwealth during the five years beginning March first one thousand nine hundred and nine and ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

The said appropriation shall be paid on the warrant of the Auditor General on the basis of settlements by that officer and the State Treasurer but no warrant shall be drawn or settlement made until the trustees directors or managers of the several hospitals and asylums for the insane of the Commonwealth shall have made under oath or affirmation to the Auditor General a quarterly report setting forth the actual number of indigent insane persons received and maintained in said hospitals and asylums for the insane respectively during the quarter for which the report is made with the dates of their admission and discharge or death respectively and the actual time during which each of said indigent insane persons was treated maintained and cared for during said quarter be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

"That the sum of seven hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($720,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to pay for the deficit incurred in the care treatment and maintenance of the indigent insane in the Commonwealth during the five years beginning March first one thousand nine hundred and nine and ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and for the purpose of refunding to the several counties the several amounts which they have paid for the care treatment and maintenance of criminal insane patients in excess of the amounts for which said counties were severally liable

"The said appropriation shall be paid on the warrant of the Auditor General on the basis of settlements by that officer and the State Treasurer but no warrants shall be drawn or settlements made until the trustees directors or managers of the several hospitals and asylums for the insane of the Commonwealth shall have made under oath or affirmation to the Auditor General a quarterly report setting forth the actual number of indigent insane persons received and maintained in said hospitals and asylums for the insane respectively during the quarter for which the report is made with the dates of their admission and discharge or death respectively and the actual time during which each of said indigent insane persons was treated maintained and cared for during said quarter

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee if there was not a House Bill introduced to cover this same appropriation which has been passed for criminal insane. The deficiency bill, Mr. Speaker, as I recall it, was a House bill considered by the Appropriation Committee and reported out some time ago that carried something like $850,000.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, the information that I have on this bill is that it provides means of carrying out the provisions of the bill wherein the amount of seven hundred and some odd thousand dollars is provided for the indigent insane. It is not a duplicate of the other bill. As I understand the provisions of this bill, it is simply carrying out the provisions of the other, in other words, a security.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2241 (Senate No. 1889), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Highway Department for the completion of the rebuilding and the repair and maintenance of the National or Cumberland Road in the counties of Somerset Fayette and Washington

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate anybody who has any interest in this bill.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I will try to answer the gentleman.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I want to know why it is necessary to make a special appropriation to the State Highway Department for the repair of this road? Why cannot it be done out of the general fund?

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, for some reason or other it was neglected to make an appropriation out of the general fund, so therefore we had to make a special act. It was overlooked in some way or other. There are 82 miles of this road. It is the old National Pike that runs from Cumberland to Washington and they have started the road and they want to finish it.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this Cumberland road is owned by the State of Pennsylvania and when the Highway Department was first created there was an appropriation of $300,000.00. This year it was thought to put it in the General Appropriation Bill, but there was a question as to whether or not it would be constitutional to put it in the General Appropriation Bill, and therefore they offered a special act over in the Senate possibly a week or so ago.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, there was a similar appropriation passed at the last session of the Legislature and this is just keeping up the work.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPORT OF THE LOBBY INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to present the report of the Committee on Investigation.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the report.

The Clerk read the report as follows:

To the Honorable the members of the House of Representatives:

The undersigned Committee appointed to investigate the identity, methods and practice of persons appearing in the State Capitol to advocate or oppose legislation, respectively reports:

Your Committee met immediately after its appointment and has held a number of public meetings at which as many witnesses were sworn and examined, and the investigation proceeded in so far as was possible in the limited time at the disposal. It was not possible for your Committee to examine even the greater number of persons known to have been in Harrisburg during the session and engaged in either advocating or opposing legislation.

The testimony taken at these hearings as well as the accompanying exhibits are filed herewith and made a part of this report.

From the testimony taken your Committee finds:

1. That an active lobby has been operating in the Capitol and in the City of Harrisburg since the session began. This lobby has consisted of men and women representing the Mining, Railroad, Liquor, Manufacturing and other industrial interests of the State, the Anti-Saloon League, Labor organizations and unions, political organizations, and several Departments of the State Government. Many of the interests so represented are extensive, representing large aggregations of capital or many individuals, and there can be no doubt that the lobby has been a powerful and extremely active one.

2. The evidence does not show that any one has used any corrupt or illegal means to advocate or oppose any matter of legislation.

3. At the time of preparing this report, the stenographers had not had sufficient time to transcribe the notes of testimony in order that your Committee might have the same before them in preparing this report. However, your Committee deems it proper to state the following facts and observations from their recollection of the testimony:

Testimony was heard tending to show considerable activity on the part of the State Administration in encompassing the passage of measures advocated or the defeat of measures opposed. This is shown by the testimony of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Private Secretary to the Governor, the Chief Engineer of the State Highway Department and others. It appears from the uncontradicted testimony that the Secretary of the Commonwealth and others were active on the floor of the House in opposing or advocating legislation.

Senator Sensenich testified that the Private Secretary to His Excellency, the Governor, had advised him to "get in right" by voting for the confirmation of Edward M. Bigelow as State Highway Commissioner, and that if he didn't support Bigelow, he would not get anything from the Administration for Westmoreland County.

Notwithstanding this advice, Senator Sensenich voted otherwise. Subsequently, after the appointment of a citizen of Westmoreland county to a certain position for which he had been recommended by Senator Sensenich, the Private Secretary to the Governor informed him that his recommendation had carried no weight and that the appointment had been made because of the endorsement of others, and that he need not expect any favors from the Governor's office.

The Private Secretary to the Governor in contradiction testified that he had never advised Senator Sensenich to "get in right" or used language to that effect. He further testified that Senator Sensenich had previously promised to vote for the confirmation of Mr. Bigelow and had failed to keep his word, and that he had informed the Senator that he need expect no favors from the Governor's office.

Senator Mills testified that early in the session, upon request to him made, he called upon His Excellency, the Governor and he had requested him to vote for the confirmation of Mr. Bigelow as State Highway Commissioner giving as a reason that he considered Mr. Bigelow the best road engineer in the State and that it would be a serious loss if his services were not secured. Senator Mills testified that he had previously endeavored to secure the appointment of an individual for an office to be filled by the Governor, and that upon leaving the Executive Chamber, His Excellency said in substance, "You think over the matter of Mr. Bigelow, and I will think over the matter of Mr. ———."

Representatives Cheeseman and Grabe of Butler County testified that they had visited the State Highway Department on Monday, June 23rd, 1913, to inquire about State-aid for a road in that county, for which petition had been on file for some time; that Mr. Foster, the Chief of Engineers, said to them in substance; "You have not been voting as though you wanted good roads in Butler county." This Mr. Foster denied, stating that he had only told them that they had not voted for good roads. Mr. Foster further stated, amongst other things, that the records of the roll calls on various matters affecting the Department were kept on file in his office for the purpose of keeping in touch with the sentiment in the various parts of the State on road matters. Mr. Foster further testified that he had no control over the matter presented by Messrs. Cheeseman and Grabe, and that matters of finance were entirely under the control of the Highway Commissioner.

There was also testimony to show that several members of the House who had supported the so-called "Liquor Bills" had been informed by a representative of the Anti-Saloon League that they would be opposed for re-election because of such action; also that about the same number of members supporting the so-called "Temperance Bills" had been warned by representatives of the "Liquor Interests" that they would be opposed by such interests for re-election.

Senator Sensenich testified that a Jeanette man by the name of Mattis, from his own county, had told him that if he voted for the Kline Bills they would see that he would "get back." There was no time for the Committee to secure the attendance of Mr. Mattis for the purpose of affording him an opportunity to confirm or deny the testimony of Senator Sensenich.

Representative Warren Miller of Lehigh county testified that a lobbyist had asked him how it was that he was supporting the "Liability Bill." Mr. Miller replied that it was because he was keeping his pledges to the people, at which time the same gentleman advised Mr. Miller that he could not afford to support this bill, that he would find it best to be on the side of the corporations, that these were the people who could do him good. Mr. Miller further testified that the party approaching him claimed to represent Steam Railroads and Hard Coal interests, but that he was unable to positively identify him or to be sure of his name.

The resolution especially mentioned that there was a room in the Capitol Building where food and drink were dispensed, which room is the office of the Clerk of the Senate. It appears by uncontradicted testimony that it had been a practice for the Clerk to serve the Senators with a mid-day lunch consisting of food and drinks. At different times others than Senators had been served with whiskey, beer and table waters, but no testimony submitted to your Committee did it appear that the room was used as a headquarters to further or defeat legislation. The Chief Clerk testified that the food and drink served in the room or rooms used by him was ordered and paid for by himself. He also stated that at the close of previous sessions, some Senators had contributed to the expense of such food and drink, and that he expects the same practice to be observed at the close of this session.

Your Committee made such inquiries as it could to ascertain the reasons for the dilatory tactics of the Senate, and the failure of certain bills, commonly known as "Platform Bills," to receive the prompt consideration in that body which was their due. It is the sense of the Committee that the policy pursued by members of the Senate with reference to these bills has been inimical to the best interests of the State.

Your Committee earnestly recommends that an act be prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau providing for licensing regulating and defining the rights of lobbyists, and for the same to be prepared and ready to be presented to the next Legislature immediately upon its convening in the year 1915.

All of which is respectively submitted.

GEORGE A. BALDWIN,
R. J. BALDWIN,
D. LLOYD CLAYCOMB.

RECOMMENDATION ACCOMPANYING THE GENERAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

Your Committee earnestly recommends to the consideration of the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings the advisability of increasing the gallery space of the hall of this House intended for the accommodation of spectators. If this could be done, the result in the judgment of your Committee will be that the accommodations provided for the general public will be in no wise restricted; while, on the other hands, a strict enforcement of the Rule of this House can be had prohibiting any person from being one the floor of the House other than those duly entitled to such privilege. We would suggest that the gallery space in the rear could be materially enlarged, and if such enlargement would not be sufficient for the accommodation of the public, additional lateral galleries could be carried along either side of this hall so as to provide ample accommodation for spectators. We are firmly of the conviction that if these suggestions are carried out a great step will be taken in eliminating the lobbying of members and would effectually do away with lobbying on the floor of the House, a practice which is not alone obnoxious to a majority of the members, but is at the same time detrimental to the proper performance of the duties entrusted to the members, and the Speaker would then feel justified in firmly enforcing the rule that members and employees only should be permitted to occupy the floor of the House during the time the House is in session. We would suggest that the floor space back of the rail be partitioned by suitably constructed divisions separating this space from the halls of the House, the same to be suitably furnished, and to be used as a resting room for the members of the House.

THE COMMITTEE.

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, in connection with the filing of this report I desire to read a statement which I have prepared, and which while possibly not within the scope of the resolution, yet I deem to be pertinent at this time because of the reference made to certain legislation in the Preamble to the resolution.

The status of our so-called "Platform Bills" and the character of the Senate amendments thereto, and the nature of the Senate action thereon are generally known. There is no doubt that the amendments in question were inserted at the instance of and as a result of the influence brought to bear by those opposed to the legislation.

I believe that a legislator who is faithless to the pledges under which he was elected, or the party platform upon which he became a candidate, is an embezzler of power, and morally as reprehensible as an embezzler of money; and he who by subtle and fallacious arguments, misrepresentations, deception or otherwise howsoever, aids and abets such legislator in such action is a party to the moral crime. It is at the same time true that men who stand for the same general principle may honestly differ as to the specific bills or details thereof by which it is proposed to legislate them into statute law. If a legislator is honest, honorable and conscientious in his attitude towards bills prepared to fulfill personal pledges or party platforms, or amendments proposed thereto, he is not only to be absolved from all manner of obliquity, but is to be commended, and no right-thinking man will adversely criticise him. But, if he capriciously oppose details of such bills as an excuse for destroying them as a whole, or emasculating them of their virility or effectiveness by inserting weakening or vicious amendments, and if he does not honestly and to the best of his ability support bills which fairly carry out his pledges and the platform to which he is committed, then he is a breaker of pledges, a betrayer of his constituents, and guilty of a grave moral offense against the State.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the report be received and printed in the Legislative Journal and that the testimony and exhibits be printed in the appendix of the Legislative Journal.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

MR. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill should not pass without some consideration. It does not affect first and second class cities but applies to various boroughs.

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

MR. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill be stricken from the calendar.

MR. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

MR. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not particularly concern any one from cities of the first and second class. We in the large cities protect our people from the dangers of the smaller amusement places having moving pictures and entertainment of that kind by having an absolute system of inspection of these places and their construction and looking after the general safety of the public. If we had legislation on the statute books of this kind you would have had no such catastrophe as you had in Boyertown several years ago. This is a bill that is intended for the protection of theatres in smaller towns and to give the public protection. If you do nothing but protect the public from such dangers that would be sufficient reason to have this bill on the statute books. Any man that wants to give entertainment to the public and make profit from that kind of business should make it a safe place for women and children to attend; a place where a man's wife and his children may go with safety. Is there any reason why you should not insist on having some safeguard to protect women and children who attend these places in small boroughs and towns as well as in the large cities? This is the only way you can get at it.

MR. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I want to state that every moving picture house today which is opened in the smaller places must submit plans to the State Department and must get permission under certain conditions and cannot open its doors without that. I contend that if this bill passes, it will give the people who are engaged in this business no opportunity, and it will be unjust to close buildings now which have been given a permit under the present law.

THE SPEAKER. The question is on the motion to strike the bill from the calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Senate bill No. 484. House Bill No. 1939, file of the Senate 2159, on page 6 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1939 (Senate No. 484), entitled:

An Act to amend section thirteen of an act entitled "An Act regulating the collection of taxes in the several boroughs and townships of this Commonwealth" approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I would ask some one to give us some information on this bill prior to its being voted on.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that wipes out special laws regulating the collection of taxes in the different counties and sections of the Commonwealth and puts them all under the act of 1885. Under certain special laws you have a number of tax collectors to whom you pay your taxes, and then when you think you have paid them all, somebody comes around afterward with a percentage on a certain amount of tax for you to pay. Now this puts the entire Commonwealth under the supervision of the act of 1885 and have one collector for all taxes, municipal and everything else except what you call state and county tax, which the Treasurer usually collects.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I further desire to interrogate the gentleman. Does this act repeal the special acts relating to counties, townships and boroughs?

Mr. WATSON. Yes, For instance we have a collector of school taxes and a collector of borough taxes and so on. Under this bill, when a person is elected as tax collector, he collects all taxes and not have three or four people running around after you to collect certain taxes. It puts it in the hands of one man in place of two or three.

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, this places the collection of all taxes in the hands of one man, as I understand it, and I am opposed to it.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

The commissioners shall hold office for a term of four years or until their successors qualify. Any commissioners may be removed for cause by the Governor. Any vacancy in a Board of Commissioners shall be filled by the Governor within ten days after the vacancy occurs and the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall hold office during the remainder of the term of the commissioner in whose place he was appointed. All appointments shall be so made that at no time shall more than two commissioners belong to the same party. Only electors residing in the same division as the person applying for appointment as registrar may appear in person and being duly sworn shown wherein said person applying for appointment as registrar does not possess the requisite qualifications. If the persons nominated are found not to be properly qualified the commissioners may decline to appoint them and the ward executive committee or city committee shall then suggest other names as aforesaid.

Such hearing shall be public before the commissioners and the register of voters may be amended either by the insertion of a new name or the cancellation of a name already on the register or otherwise as the commissioners may order. The commissioners may enforce their orders as herein provided or may make the amendments themselves or by their clerks. All such applications for correcting the register must be made not later than two weeks prior to a general or municipal election.

Any qualified elector who was too ill to appear at the polling-place on all of the registration days or who was unavoidably absent from the city on all of said days may at any time but not less than two weeks before any election or primary present his petition to the commissioners setting forth the facts as to his illness or unavoidable absence and setting forth in detail the information required to be recorded in the register and praying that his name may be added to the register of the proper division. On the question,

Will the House adopt the conference report?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, there is pending a concurrent resolution which was laid upon the desk, the resolution offered by myself asking that the report be referred back to the conference committee. I am informed by the sponsor of the bill that such a course would be detrimental and he also informs me that he desires to make a statement to the House to-night.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, in undertaking to carry out the suggestions made at the time the resolution offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia was postponed, the members of the House conference committee undertook to get together with the Senate conference committee to ascertain if there was a reasonable chance of putting in the amendments the House desired. We were unable to get in conference with the Senate conferees all at one time. Those conferences which we did have with them separately were very unsatisfactory and we finally came to the conclusion that we could not do anything except get in one or two minor amendments which some of the best attorneys we have consulted state were already in the bill. We worked for an hour trying to get some status where we could come back to the House and state our position. Even as late as after we adjourned at seven o'clock we tried to get in conference with the Senators upon the proposition. These amendments suggested that had been stricken out by the Senate, some of them were amendments that I personally and some of the other House conferees would like to have put in the bill. We did our best to keep them in, but we were unable to do so.

But believing that the bill is a good bill and that these amendments are not so vital as to destroy the entire benefit and good we hope to get out of it, we accepted the compromise that we were able to get and we believe that we got some very good compromises. To throw this bill back into conference of the two House committees, and I believe I am voicing the sentiment of the other conferees of the House, would endanger the passage of the bill, and believing that it would defeat the passage of it at this time by having it referred back to conference again, the motion should not prevail and the bill should pass as it is.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this legislation stating, as he does now, that this motion, if carried, might jeopardize this measure, I withdraw the motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion is withdrawn.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the conference report?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker. I don't think that any bill of the enormous magnitude of this measure ought to be passed without some more or less detailed discussion upon it, stating exactly what has been lost by the arbitrary action of the Senate. The bill which passed the House was the product of the combined labors of a number of people. Ideas came from all sources and finally there was produced an amalgamation of the bill introduced by Mr. Rockwell and a portion of the bill introduced by myself together with ideas from the Democratic side. While debate in the House showed that some radical difference of opinion was still existing, nevertheless, I think when the bill had been promptly read over by everybody in the House it was found to be a model. It combined the good features of the bills in other States and was drawn to make it effective. It was drawn in the light of the experience of the United States Interstate Commerce Act and in the experience of the other States which had public utilities acts and it was drawn in great detail so as to be really an effective act. Mr. Speaker, that bill in its passage through the Senate has been radically and consistently weakened and I might add that it had been weakened by a skilled hand. That is to say, the people who drew the Senate amendments are evidently people who are thoroughly acquainted with the wants and the desires of the public utilities of this State and it is easy enough for anybody who will examine into these amendments, to know the sources from which they have come and the weakening purposes with which they were introduced. I might add that the conference committee on the part of the House has done a really remarkable work in withdrawing some of the worst amendments which the Senate attempted to put in. My purpose is to point out some of the amendments which the conference committee were not able to withdraw and which the Senate embodied. Still, I do believe that as the situation exists this very moment it is better to have this conference committee report adopted, but I don't wish this House to adjourn without knowing how far the Senate has misled the people of the State. Taking up the bill as it left the House, file folio 12007, on page 4, line 19, the words "or empowered so to do" are stricken out and while a very small amendment, it is apparent that this is the situation: Under the present laws it is possible for railroads and street railway corporations to obtain charters for streets although they have no intention of using them but simply for the intention of preventing anybody else from using them. In other words, they are like "dogs in the manger." Then by another provision of the law, we obtained extensions of these exclusive privileges and this act was intended to give the public service commission jurisdiction over cases of that kind so that that act compelled either the use or the abandonment of the franchise. But the fine Italian hand of the Senate amenders has found out that these few words meant a great deal and appreciated their intention and struck them out. You will find them consistently stricken out throughout the whole bill. Then, Mr. Speaker, on page 7 of the measure, again appears a very significant striking out. There disappear the words "additions and extensions." One of the greatest failures of public service with which public service companies sometimes inflict their patrons is to refuse to extend pipe lines or wires into communities which have a right to them but which the public utilities which perhaps cannot command capital at an interest low enough for the purpose refuses to make. If that public utilities is to give a real service to its patrons certainly the commission ought to have jurisdiction to compel them to make extensions, but again the Senate amenders have found out that power which the bill would give to the commission and have stricken it out. We go on again to page 13 and we find this power of the commission stricken out, "increase the number and change the type of its trains, cars, vehicles, wharves, docks or piers or other facilities." That is the amendment of a very similar nature to the one I have just referred. The first one refers to the extension of facilities and this amendment refers to improvement or the making safe of facilities. The Senate perhaps was afraid that at some time the commission should compel some old rattle-trap cars to be equipped with fenders or to be made with some new type of air-brake and lest that should cause some public utility money, it has been stricken out. Again, on page 15, we find a very whole-some section which was in the original bill stricken out. It is a section which provides for what is known as "billing in transit." It refers particularly to a method of freight rate adjustment by which millers of this State can stop the grain as it passes from the wheat fields of the West to the seaport and turn it into flour and get the same freight rate for the flour from the seaport as if the journey of the grain had never been interrupted. To get the advantage of the through rates and not be compelled to pay a local rate for their wheat to the seaport, this has been accomplished. This may seem dry, but when you consider that it means the possibility of a mill existing or the necessity of its going out of business you will realize that it is a matter of life and death to some industries which are very valuable to the State. The Senate has stricken that out and they have stricken it out for the sole reason that the railroad companies didn't like it and there is no other reason. On page 24 and again on 34, section 11 of the original bill are two companion sections which deal with the right of municipalities to go into competition with existing public service companies. You all realize that when the exactions of a public service company become intolerable the way to relieve it has been found most effective in the past is for the municipal corporation itself to erect its own gas plant or water works or any other public service which it might find wise so to erect. The bill as it left the House had a very well balanced provision to protect both the rights of the public service company against unfair competition by the municipality and at the same time to protect the municipality against unfair exactions of the public utility and the way the bill read before was this: It provided that no municipality could go into business asserting its public function unless it get from the Public Utilities Commission a certificate that was reasonably necessary; that it was for a public convenience, but if it so be that the Public Service Commission had acted wrongly or unfairly in that matter, if it was in the hands of a man who the local municipality was not dealing fairly by, then the municipality had this recourse: It could buy out the public service utilities at a price which after due adjudication was considered fair. In this particular, now notice how that protects both sides. It protects the public utilities because they would have to be paid for and they would then be practically subject to eminent domain for public use in the same way that every foot of ground in the Commonwealth is subject to eminent domain for public use. At the same time before that could be done, it was necessary for the municipality to argue out its case before the Public Service Commission where it was sure, at least, of having the matter fairly heard and thoroughly gone into and ninety-nine times out of a hundred the justice of the matter would be so decided that no further action would be necessary. Now, the Senate amenders have cut out half of that. They have cut out the section which allows the city to buy its public utilities and therefore, by leaving the other section in it forbids the city or county to go into that business without permission. They have absolutely placed the whole situation in the hands of the commission without any force on the part of the locality to purchase public utilities. It would be logical to leave both these sections in but to take them both out leaves the question of the municipality to go into the business to be decided by law.

But the Senate has gone as far as it possibly can for the purpose of preventing any competition with public utilities. And it is evident that their sole purpose in doing that has been, as far as possible, to preserve the present monopoly of public services. On page 71 of the bill the conferrees have made an improvement, but they have not placed the bill in as good shape as it left the House on the matter of watered stock. As the Senate would have it, it would be necessary for the commission to take into account the market value of the stocks and bonds when they come to value. Now, that market value may have been caused by a great number of things, such as franchise values, which were given and perhaps stolen, and a number of other things which have nothing to do with actual amount of value which was put in by the original stockholders. The conferrees have improved that by allowing the taking of those things into account by the commission to be optional, but they have put in a lot more which weakens the bill in that respect. On page 97, Section 40, the Senate has deliberately cut out and the conferrees have allowed to be cut out the section which makes it criminal for the people who solicit the rebate as well as for those who give it. This is analogous with the Interstate Commerce Law, the act under which the Standard Oil Company was fined in a lower court $20,000,000. Evidently the omission of that is to weaken the act in its efforts to prevent rebates. Now, Mr. Speaker, there are any number of minor matters, but I realize the patience of the house is not equal to it. But there is one matter of grave and serious importance that I think ought to be mentioned. The original bill provided that the terms of the commissioners should be seven years and that they should be elected for one, two, three, four, five, six and seven years and after that expire one every year. The Senate changed that and the conferrees allowed it to be changed so that the term of the commissioners shall be ten years, the first one to serve four years. The simple result of that, Mr. Speaker, is that this administration controls the commission until 1920.

On the question.

Will the House adopt the conference report?

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to indict upon you at this time an argument on this bill. In behalf of the sponsor of this bill, in order that we may have a record, I desire to call the attention of the House to this bill. In Wayne County, there was a very pretty Yankee school teacher who gathered her pupils around her and discussed the proposition of having a State flower. This young teacher's name was Miss Elsie Brown, who called upon their representative to present this flower. They not only have patriotic school teachers there, but they also have a farmer poet by the name of Dix who has written the following patriotic poem:

THE DAISY

By Irving Dix

Dear spotless flower, fair tenant of the farms,
Unclaimed, as yet, by any sovereign state,
Shall Pennsylvania, too, neglect thy charms,
And leave thee to some cruel chance of Fate.

Shall Pennsylvania, in her pomp and pride,
Be like the Levite, half ashamed of thee,
Because thou growest by the country side,
And not within some gorgeous greenery.

She should not—yet if she, a sovereign power,
Should, in her pride, reject thee as a weed,
I shall not, for all that, forget the hour
When, as a child, I loved thy humble breed.

'Tis true, thou art no idle farmer's friend—
Thou growest where but little else can grow—
Yet thou wert made, no doubt, for some wise end,
If for naught else, perhaps alone for show.

And so I love thee, for thou tellest me
Of days forever gone,—the dear, dead days
Of youthful joys and early infancy,
And all those scenes the poet loves to praise.

And thou remindest me, dear flower, of Spring,
And of the waving grass, so fresh and clean,
And of those happy birds that love to sing,
Of wondrous things that man has never seen.

Likewise thy colors, yellow, green and white,
Suggest to me the golden path of Dawn,
Thy broad, green meadows in the morning light,
And brilliant sun that beautifies the lawn.

For thou—thou art the darling of the sun,
Bright jewel of the dying days of Spring,
And though proud statesmen should thy beauties shun,
I still will love thee, and thy praises sing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the Conference Report?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 696.

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned Committee of Conference, on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives, for the purpose of considering House bill number six hundred and ninety-six, entitled "An Act providing and requiring standard provision in policies of health or accident or accident and health insurance issued or delivered in this Commonwealth prohibiting discrimination in such insurance exempting certain contracts and fixing penalties for violation of this act" beg leave to submit the following amended bill as our report:

JOHN P. MOORE,
JOHN GYGER,
ASA K. DEWITT,

Committee on the part of the Senate.

R. J. BALDWIN,
D LOYD CLAYCOMB,

Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

An Act providing and requiring standard provision in policies of health or accident or accident and health insurance issued or delivered in this Commonwealth prohibiting discrimination in such insurance exempting certain contracts and fixing penalties for violation of this act

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and fourteen no policy of insurance against loss from sickness or loss or damage from bodily injury or death of the insured by accident shall be issued or delivered to any person in this Commonwealth until a copy of the form thereof and of the classification of risks and the premium rates pertaining thereto have been filed with the Insurance Commissioner nor shall it be so issued or delivered until the expiration of thirty days after it has been so filed unless the said Commissioner shall sooner give his written approval thereto. If the said Commissioner shall notify in writing the company corporation association society or other insurer which has filed such form that it does not comply with the requirements of law specifying the reasons for his opinion it shall be unlawful thereafter for any such insurer to issue any policy in such form. The action of the said Commissioner in this regard shall be subject to review by the court of Common Pleas of Dauphin county

Section 2. No such policy shall be issued or delivered except subject to the following conditions (1) unless the entire money and other consideration therefore are expressed in the policy nor (2) unless the time at which the insurance thereunder takes effect and terminates is stated in a portion of the policy preceding its execution by the insurer nor (3) if the policy purports to insure more than one person nor (4) unless every printed portion thereof and of any endorsements or attached papers shall be plainly printed in type of which the face shall be not smaller than ten point or (5) unless a brief description thereof be printed on its first page and on its filing back in type of which the face shall be not smaller than fourteen point nor (6) unless the exceptions of the policy be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which they apply. Provided however That any portion of such policy which purports by reason of the circumstances under which a loss is incurred to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances shall be printed in bold face type and with greater prominence than any other portion of the text of the policy

Section 3. Every such policy so issued shall contain certain standard provisions which shall be in the words and in the order hereinafter set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "Standard Provisions". In each such standard provisions wherever the word "Insurer" is used there shall be substituted therefor "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" or such other word as will properly designate to the insurer. Said standard provision shall be

(1) A standard provision relative to the contract which may be in either of the following two forms Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide for reduction of indemnity on account of change of occupation and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide. If Form (B) is used and the policy provides indemnity against loss from sickness the words "or contracts sickness" may be inserted therein immediately after the words "in the event that the insured is injured"

(a) 1 This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance. No reduction shall be made in any indemnity herein provided by reason of change in the occupation of the insured or by reason of his doing any act or thing pertaining to any other occupation

(b) 1 This policy includes the endorsement and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance except as it may be modified by the insurer's classification of risks and premium rates in the event that the insured is injured after having changed his occupation to one classified by the insurer as more hazardous than that stated in the policy or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation in which event the insurer will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits so fixed by the insurer for such more hazardous occupation

If the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued required that prior to its issue a statement of the premium rates and classification of risks pertaining to it shall be filed with the State official having supervision of insurance in such State then the premium rates and classification of risks mentioned in this policy shall mean only such as have been last filed by the insurer in accordance with such law but if such filing is not required by such law then they shall mean the insurer's premium rates and classification of risks last made effective by it in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the insurer is liable

(2) A standard provision relative to changes in the contract which shall be in the following form

2 No statement made by the applicant for insurance not included herein shall avoid the policy or be used in any legal proceeding hereunder. No agent has authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions. No change in this policy shall be valid unless approved by an executive officer of the insurer and such approval be endorsed hereon

(3) A standard provision relative to reinstatement of policy after lapse which may be in either of the three following forms Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness and Form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness

(A) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover loss resulting from accidental injury thereafter sustained

(B) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance

(C) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover accidental injury thereafter sustained and such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance

(4) A standard provision relative to time of notice of claim which may be in either of the three following forms Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness and Form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness. If Form (A) or Form (C) is used the insurer may at its option add thereto the following sentence "In event of accidental death immediate notice thereof must be given to the insurer"

(A)—4 Written notice of injury on which claim may be based must be given to the insurer within twenty days after the date of the accident causing such injury

(B)—4 Written notice of sickness on which claim may be based must be given to the insurer within ten days after the commencement of the disability from such sickness

(C)—4 Written notice of injury or of sickness on which claim may be based must be given to the insurer within twenty days after the date of the accident causing such injury or within ten days after the commencement of disability from such sickness

(5) A standard provision relative to sufficiency of notice of claim which shall be in the following form and in which the insurer shall insert in the blank space such office and its location as it may desire to designate for such purpose of notice

5 Such notice given by or in behalf of the insured or beneficiary as the case may be to the insurer at..... or to any authorized agent of the insurer with particulars sufficient to identify the insured shall be deemed to be notice to the insurer. Failure to give notice within the time provided in this policy shall not invalidate any claim if it shall be shown not to have been reasonably possible to give such notice and that notice was given as soon as was reasonably possible.

(6) A standard provision relative to furnishing forms for the convenience of the insured in submitting proof of loss as follows

6 The insurer upon receipt of such notice will furnish to the claimant such forms as are usually furnished by it for filing proofs of loss. If such forms are not so furnished within fifteen days after the receipt of such notice the claimant shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this policy as to proof of loss upon submitting within the time fixed in the policy for filing proofs of loss written proof covering the occurrence character and extent of the loss for which claim is made.

(7) A standard provision relative to filing proof of loss which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided

(A)—7 Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer at its said office within ninety days after the date of the loss for which claim is made.

(B)—7 Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer at its said office within ninety days after the termination of the period of disability for which the company is liable.

(C)—7 Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer at its said office in case of claim for loss of time from disability within ninety days after the termination of the period for which the insurer is liable and in case of claim for any other loss within ninety days after the date of such loss.

(8) A standard provision relative to examination of the person of the insured and relative to autopsy which shall be in the following form

8 The insurer shall have the right and opportunity to examine the person of the insured when and so often as it may reasonably require during the pendency of claim hereunder and also the right and opportunity to make an autopsy in case of death where it is not forbidden by law.

(9) A standard provision relative to the time within which payments other than those for loss of time on account of disability shall be made which provision may be in either of the following two forms and which may be omitted from any policy providing only indemnity for loss of time on account of disability. The insurer shall insert in the blank space either the word "immediately" or appropriate language to designate such period of time not more than sixty days as it may desire Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide indemnity for loss of time on account of disability and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide.

(A) 9 All indemnities provided in this policy will be paid after receipt of due proof.

(B) 9 All indemnities provided in this policy for loss other than that of time on account of disability will be paid after receipt of due proof.

(10) A standard provision relative to periodical payments of indemnity for loss of time on account of disability which provision shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not providing for such indemnity. The insurer shall insert in the first blank space of the form appropriate language to designate the proportion of accrued indemnity it may desire to pay which proportion may be all or any part not less than one-half and in the second blank space shall insert any period of time not exceeding sixty days.

10 Upon request of the insured and subject to due proof of loss accrued indemnity for loss of time on account of disability will be paid at the expiration of each during the continuance of the period for which the insurer is liable and any balance remaining unpaid at the termination of such period will be paid immediately upon receipt of due proof.

(11) A standard provision relative to indemnity payments which may be in either of the two following forms Form (A) to be used in policies which designate a beneficiary and Form (B) to be used in policies which do not designate any beneficiary other than the insured.

(A) 11 Indemnity for loss of life of the insured is payable to the beneficiary if surviving the insured and otherwise to the estate of the insured. All other indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(B) 11 All the indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(12) A standard provision providing for cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insured which shall be in the following form

12 If the insured shall at any time change his occupation to one classified by the insurer as less hazardous than that stated in the policy the insurer upon written request of the insured and surrender of the policy will cancel the same and will return to the insured the unearned premium.

(13) A standard provision relative to the rights of the beneficiary under the policy which shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not designating a beneficiary.

13 Consent of the beneficiary shall not be requisite to surrender or assignment of this policy or to change of beneficiary or to any other changes in the policy.

(14) A standard provision limiting the time within which suit may be brought upon the policy as follows

14 No action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on this policy prior to the expiration of sixty days after proof of the loss has been filed in accordance with the requirements of this policy nor shall such action be brought at all unless brought within two years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by the policy.

(15) A standard provision relative to time limitations of the policy as follows

15 If any time limitation of this policy with respect to giving notice of claim or furnishing proof of loss is less than that permitted by the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued such limitation is hereby extended to agree with the minimum period permitted by such law.

Section 4 No such policy shall be so issued or delivered which contains any provisions (1) relative to cancellation at the instance of the insurer or (2) limiting the amount of indemnity to a sum less than the amount stated in the policy and for which the premium has been paid or (3) providing for the deduction of any premium from the amount paid in settlement of claim or (4) relative to other insurance by the same insurer or (5) relative to the age limits of the policy unless such provisions which are hereby designated as optional standard provisions shall be in the words and in the order in which they are hereinafter set forth but the insurer may at its option omit from the policy any such optional standard provision. Such optional standard provisions if inserted in the policy shall immediately succeed the standard provisions named in section three of this act.

(1) An optional standard provision relative to cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insurer as follows

15 The insurer may cancel this policy at any time by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to his last address as shown by the records of the insurer together with cash or the insurer's check for the unearned portion of the premiums actually paid by the insured and such cancellation shall be without prejudice to any claim originating prior thereto.

(2) An optional standard provision relative to reduction of the amount of indemnity to a sum less than that stated in the policy as follows

17 If the insured shall carry with another company corporation association or society other insurance covering the same loss without giving written notice to the insurer then in that case the insurer shall be liable only for such portion of the indemnity promised as the said indemnity bears to the total amount of like indemnity in all policies covering such loss and for the return of such part of the premium paid as shall exceed the pro rata for the indemnity thus determined.

(3) An optional standard provision relative to deduction of premium upon settlement of claim as follows

18 Upon the payment of claims hereunder any premium then due and unpaid or covered by any note or written order may be deducted therefrom.

(4) An optional standard provision relative to other insurance by the same insurer which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided and in the blank spaces of which the insurer shall insert such upward limits of indemnity as are specified by the insurer's classification of risks filed as required by this act.

(A) 19 If a like policy or policies previously issued by the insurer to the insured be in force concurrently herewith making the aggregate indemnity in excess of $..... the excess insurance shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

(B) 19 If a like policy or policies previously issued by the insurer to the insured be in force concurrently herewith making the aggregate indemnity for loss of time on account of disability in excess of $..... weekly the excess insurance shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

(C)—19 If a like policy or policies previously issued by the insurer to the insured be in force concurrently herewith making the aggregate indemnity for loss other than that of time on account of disability in excess of $..... or the aggregate indemnity for loss of time on account of disability in excess of $..... weekly the excess insurance of either kind shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

(5) An optional standard provision relative to the age limits of the policy which shall be in the following form and in the blank spaces of which the insurer shall insert such number of years as it may elect

20 The insurance under this policy shall not cover any person under the age of years nor over the age of years. Any premium paid to the insurer for any period not covered by this policy will be returned upon request.

Section 5 No such policy shall be issued or delivered if it contains any provision contradictory in whole or part of any of the provisions hereinbefore in this act designated as "Standard Provisions" or as "Optional Standard Provisions" nor shall any endorsements or attached papers vary alter extend be used as a substitute for or in any way conflict with any of the said "Standard Provisions" or the said "Optional Standard Provisions" nor shall such policy be so issued or delivered if it contains any provision purporting to make any portion of the charter constitution or by-laws of the insurer a part of the policy unless such portion of the charter constitution or by-laws shall be set forth in full in the policy but this prohibition shall not be deemed to apply to any statement of rates of classification of risks filed with the Insurance Commissioner in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Section 6 The falsity of any statement in the application for any policy covered by this act shall not bar the right to recovery thereunder unless such false statement was made with actual intent to deceive or unless it materially affected either the acceptance of the risk or the hazard assumed by the insurer.

Section 7 The acknowledgment by any insurer of the receipt of notice given under any policy covered by this act or the furnishing of forms for filing proofs of loss or the acceptance of such proofs or the investigation of any claim thereunder shall not operate as a waiver of any of the rights of the insurer in defense of any claim thereunder shall not operate as a waiver of any of the rights of the insurer in defense of any claim arising under such policy.

Section 8 No alteration of any written application for insurance by erasure insertion or otherwise shall be made by any person other than the applicant without his written consent and the making of any such alteration without the consent of the applicant shall be a misdemeanor. If such alteration shall be made by any officer of the insurer or by any employee of the insurer with the insurer's knowledge or consent then such act shall be deemed to have been performed by the insurer thereafter issuing the policy upon such altered application. The commissioner may revoke the license of the insurer for any violation of this section.

Section 9 A policy issued in violation of this act shall be held valid but shall be construed as provided in this act and when any provision in such a policy is in conflict with any provision of this act such provision shall be invalid and the policy shall be deemed to contain all of the standard provisions.

Section 10 The policies of insurance against accidental bodily injury or sickness issued by an insurer not organized under the laws of this Commonwealth may contain when issued in this Commonwealth any provision which the law of the State territory or district of the United States under which the insurer is organized prescribes for insertion in such policies and the policies of insurance against accidental bodily injury or sickness issued by an insurer organized under the laws of this Commonwealth may contain when issued or delivered in any other State territory district of country any provision required by the laws of the State territory district or country in which the same are issued anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

NAYS—1.

Carson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the Conference Report adopted.

Ordered. That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would call the attention of the House to some very important business which remains to be transacted.

A slight error has been discovered in the Report of the Conference Committee on House Bill No. 183. On page 99, in line 19, the word "thirteen" should be "eleven," referring to section "eleven" instead of section thirteen. It seems that the proper course would be for the House to reconsider the vote by which it adopted the report of the committee of conference, and then by concurrent resolution of the House and Senate amend the Report of the Committee of Conference by substituting the word "eleven" for the word "thirteen" after which, the extra sheet showing the change having been distributed, the House can properly adopt the report as just amended. For this purpose the Chair will sustain a motion to reconsider the vote by which this report was adopted.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, would it not be a wise course for them to look through this whole bill, and see if there is not a couple more mistakes.

The SPEAKER. I think this is the only one.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker. I move that the House reconsider the vote by which it adopted the Report of the Committee on Conference on House Bill No. 183.

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION AMENDING REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 183.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), that the Report of the Committee on Conference on House Bill No. 183, file folio 12483, be amended by striking out the word "thirteen" in line 19, on page 99 and substituting therefor the word "eleven."

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I know of no parliamentary procedure to allow a conference report to be amended. The conferees of the two Houses represent the bodies and the way it should be done is to refer this back to the conference committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order is not well taken. The committee is the creature of the Assembly, composed of the members of the House and Senate, and representing them. The report is returned by the committee to the Assembly and the duties of the committee thereupon are completed. The report then belongs to the Assembly and it seems clear to the Chair that by concurrent resolution that report can be amended before being passed upon by way of adoption.

The Chair will overrule the point of order.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Before doing so will the Chair allow me to express my views on the parliamentary question?

The SPEAKER. Certainly.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I take it that so far as the Constitution and the House is concerned upon passing upon bills, the Constitution is specific as to the procedure to take in the reading of the bills on three separate days. We can merely consider a bill and the only way that we consider a conference report is because it is a report from the committee on conference.

The two bodies adopt it or do not. We have no other proceeding than that we either adopt it or reject it. How would it be possible for us to amend a conference report after we have voted upon it more than we would have the power to offer an amendment to the conference report before we had adopted it, by a joint resolution? We would have no power to amend a conference report before adoption. How could we have it after adoption?

The SPEAKER. As the matter stands before the House, it stands as though not adopted.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, assuming, if the Chair will permit me, granting that position, we now have a conference report from a conference committee. What power has the House to amend the action of its conferees or the action of the conferees of the Senate? In other words, when they report to the House and later to the Senate, what power has this body to amend their report?

The SPEAKER. This body alone has not the power, but the Assembly has.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am referring to both bodies, acting jointly. What power have we, under any parliamentary proceeding?

The SPEAKER. We have the inherent power. The conference is not the creation of the Constitution, but created for the convenience of the two Houses. If the two Houses saw fit, they could have a conference committee composed of the members of the House and Senate meeting jointly. The committee appointed for convenience consists of three members of each House making a report, and that report ready to be acted upon, therefore it is the inherent power of the two bodies, by concurrent resolution, to amend that report as they deem necessary before final action.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, if the Chair's position is correct, if we can amend so far as a little trifling amendment such as this, would it not be just as logical for us to offer by joint resolution an amendment such as suggested today, rather than go back to the conference committee, and suggest it by a joint resolution to amend the report of the conference committee and have it passed upon by both the House and the Senate?

The SPEAKER. The Chair sees no parliamentary difficulty in doing that.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the purpose of a conference committee, it is one of convenience where the matters can be discussed and agreed upon. In the conference committee an entire new bill may be given as the report of the conference committee. The conference committee is merely one of convenience for the purpose of reaching agreement.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the conference committee, being a joint committee of the House and Senate, the matter is not reached in proper form by the presentation of a joint resolution, for the reason that the report of the conference committee is what both bodies separately must act upon. The proper course to pursue, it appears to me to straighten out the tangle in which we are enmeshed, would be to reconsider the action of the House in passing the bill and then return the bill to the conference committee for its further action. I can not see what further method could be worked out in a proper course of procedure. The conference committee being a joint committee of both House and Senate presents a bill of the same character to both houses. There is no process by which the two houses can be brought together for action upon this matter. They act upon that report separately. If one House were to adopt the report and the other reject it, of course the report would fail and the bill would fail. If, by a resolution, you had the power to amend, I think you would be doing that which you have no right to do, to amend a bill which is a conference committee's report. In the first place, I would ask what would be the position of the House if the joint resolution which is now presented should pass this body and should fail on the other side of the House? There would be no question but that the bill would stand as it had stood. It cannot be reached in that way. There is no assurance of its being reached in that way. The proper way would be to send it back to the conference committee and to have it correct its report, which it doubtless would do, being an immaterial matter, and yet perhaps an important matter, and then present that to the House. I can only say that to me it appears that the proper course would be to rescind from the action of the House in passing the bill and to refer the bill back to the conference committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is clearly of the opinion that the point of order is not well taken, notwithstanding the suggestions so well stated by the gentlemen.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen in this part of the House, including myself, would like to have the question answered whether or not this could be settled in a satisfactory manner in the way the Speaker suggests, in case we should adjourn to-morrow at twelve o'clock.

The SPEAKER. Do you mean in the manner now proposed?

Mr. STEIN. Yes.

The SPEAKER. Without any question. The extra sheets are already printed.

The point of order raised is overruled.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the resolution? It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

C. W. SONES,

Committee on the part of the Senate.

AUGUSTINE P. CONNIFF,
J. B. MARTIN,
C. M. C. CAMPBELL,

Committee on the part of the House of Representatives:

An Act to provide that certain teachers of long experience in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be appointed permanently and defining the manner of changing their positions and salaries making it the duty of the president and secretary of each school board in this Commonwealth to enter into certain contracts and providing penalties for the neglect or refusal to perform such duty

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after the first day of September Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen whenever any teacher holding a certificate which confers a permanent right to teach shall have taught for ten years in any one school district of this Commonwealth it shall the duty of the president and secretary of the board of school directors to execute a contract of permanent employment with such teacher in the school work of such district and thereafter he or she may not be dismissed from the employ of such district except for causes specified in the laws of this Commonwealth

Section 3 That any president or secretary of a school board who neglects or refuses to perform his duty as specified in this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Conference Committee?

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, this bill is Senate Bill No. 103, known the "Tenure of Office" bill. It went to the Conference Committee at least two months ago and they kept it in conference committee for that length of time. I do not know for what reason they did so but it comes here on the last night of the session with the hope that nobody will pay any special attention to it and that it might pass. It is a bad bill; it is bad for the school teacher; it is bad for every body concerned and I ask the members of the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that during this session of the Legislature we seem to have considerable trouble getting anything passed in favor of the teacher. I don't know whether this will operate favorably to the teacher or not. I have had hundreds and I dare say thousands of letters and also names in petitions, which doubtless many of you also have received in favor of this bill. The teachers are almost unanimously for it and if it were not for that, I would, personally, be against the bill. The teachers want it. I will tell you why it was in committee so long. The words "two-thirds" had been put in the bill—an amendment to add two-thirds instead of a majority. We have receded from that in the House here and have the bill here now as it originally was. I trust that you will give the teachers a chance for once. They want this bill.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Martin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made a statement that the teachers of the state were almost unanimously in favor of this bill. If he can prove to me that the teachers, in any measure, are in favor of this bill, I will withdraw my opposition and vote in favor of it. Since this bill has been referred to the Conference Committee, I have had hundreds of teachers come to me, who were not in favor of it in the first place and who didn't understand it and then ask me to do all I can to defeat the measure. That is in Western Pennsylvania. I don't know anything about the section of the country the gentleman from Dauphin comes from.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I have not received any word or information since this bill has been under consideration against it. As I said before, in this section at least and in the sections of Philadelphia, the western part, telegrams and a number of them from all over the state have been received since the time of the introduction of this bill and I have only tried to carry out the wishes of the teachers, having been a teacher myself.

Mr. KENS. Mr. Speaker, I can heartily corroborate what the gentleman from Dauphin says. I have not received a single letter or word from any teacher who is opposed to this bill. As the gentleman from Dauphin stated there seems to be some difficulty for legislation to be passed in this House in favor of teachers and yet if it were not for the school teacher, none of us would be here to-day. At the same time, it seems very peculiar to me that a county superintendent should be against this bill. Why, I don't know. That cannot be because the school teacher is not an important person. He should be properly taken care of. There is no profession that is as valuable as the profession of the teachers and if any legislation should be passed in favor of any profession, it should be the profession of the school teacher.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the Conference Report?

On the question,
Will the House adopt the report?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I think every member of this House who was fortunate enough to secure a copy of the bill before it went to the conference committee ought to keep that copy to see how this bill was sent over to the Senate and there, after sufficient delay, absolutely massacred, chopped up and redivided in a way to meet, perhaps, obligations. It ought to be saved as a souvenir of this session of the Legislature. With the report of the Conference Committee I have no objection. Somebody will benefit. The people at large may receive some benefit through the rewards bestowed and I shall vote for the bill.

HARRISBURG, PA., FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1913.

No. 92.

SENATE.

FRIDAY June 27, 1913.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John M. Reynolds) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

Our Father in Heaven, we come to Thee at this time grateful to Thee for Thy many blessings, grateful to Thee for the fellowship which we have enjoyed even as brothers together, grateful to Thee for Thy kindly providence which has watched over us and guided us. We pray to Thee that as we await the fall of the gavel that shall adjourn this session we shall remember that the gavel of the Eternal Judge shall some day adjourn the session of our life. Help us to be ready for the fall of that gavel. We ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SPROUL, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the House of Representatives which were laid upon the table.

RESOLUTION EXTENDING TIME OF ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate for concurrence resolution, which was twice read, as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the time for adjournment sine die shall be extended until twelve o'clock to-night.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, for the information of the Senate I might say that there is no disposition to continue this session one minute longer than is necessary to get through the General Appropriation Bill, and the understanding is with the House that if we get through at say two or two thirty this afternoon, there will be a new resolution for adjournment.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I am not opposed to the extension of the time, if this resolution is made in good faith by the House and business demands the time to be extended, I am in favor of staying here that long, but not staying just to gratify the wishes of the House.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RESOLUTION FIXING TIME FOR ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE AND TESTIMONIAL PRESENTATION.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CROW offered the following resolution which was twice read and agreed to:

Resolved, That the election for President pro tempore of the Senate, whose term of office shall commence with the final adjournment of the Legislature, be held at two-thirty P. M. today, and that the usual testimonial presentation exercises be held immediately following said election.

RESOLUTION FOR APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO DRAFT WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION LAW.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHEATZ offered resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, The principles of a Workmen's Compensation Act in case of injury to an employee or in case of death, proper compensation to his dependents is universally admitted to be right; and

Whereas, The time is at hand when the American workmen and their dependents must have a more positive expectancy in case of injury or death when caused during employment; and in case of injury or death when caused during employment; and

Whereas, Just and workable laws have been enacted in various countries of Europe and in several States of our Union; and

Whereas, Bill No. 399 of the General Assembly of 1913 was drawn to meet the exigency of this proposition, but on account of serious diverse opinions upon the beneficial scope to all workmen of the measure as drawn and the administration of the act and the subsequent amendments which weakened the measure to such an extent as to make it unacceptable to the workmen of Pennsylvania;

Therefore be it resolved, That the President pro tempore of the Senate be and is hereby authorized to appoint three Senators who shall at the earliest time possible concentrate their efforts in the drafting of a measure along the lines of certain well established Workmen's Compensation Laws now in successful and satisfactory operation

This Commission of three Senators appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall receive no compensation for their services. Their expenses, however, shall be paid, also the expenses for all typewriting in the construction of the Bill. Such expenses to be paid out of the contingent fund provided in the General Appropriation Bill upon warrants drawn to the order of such Senator as the Commission may designate as their Chairman, provided, however, that vouchers must be filed with the Auditor General covering such expenses. It is contemplated by this resolution that the three Senators selected to carry into effect the work of drafting a Workmen's Compensation Act will complete their task on or by December 1st, 1913.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution just read may be considered at this time.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I stood ready to vote for the Workmen's Compensation Act no matter in what drastic form it came out on the floor of this Senate, but inasmuch as a deadlock ensued between the conferees, it does not look as though we are going to get an opportunity to vote on it, I think this is the next best solution of the problem at this time. I therefore hope the resolution passes.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I have had previous knowledge of course of the preparation of this resolution and of its presentation. It is one of the measures that we in our end of the State deemed of more importance than any measure presented to the House or Senate during this present session. It is a measure that gave me more concern than any other measure that has been presented to the Legislature, consequently it was a measure that I was more interested in than any other measure, and I want to say at this present moment that I was extremely sorry to learn that the conferees of this body and the conferees of the House were unable to agree on a bill that would be satisfactory, partly if not wholly to the interests that were interested in this bill. Two or three days ago in conversation with a member of the Conference Committee on the part of the Senate I was informed that in his judgment the difference was so wide that it would be impossible for the conferees to agree. I stated then as I believe now that any committee of conference from this body and from the House failing to agree should report to this body their failure to agree and report in time for this body to take some other action if they deem proper. I believe that our committee acted in the best of faith. I believe that there were carrying out the will of the majority of this body. I believe, too, that the majority of this body has made a mistake. I think that in two years this is to be one of the greatest measures of interest in the State of Pennsylvania before the coming session of the Legislature. I believe, too and I make this prediction that the interests that have opposed this measure will find that two years from now that perhaps there will be a harsher provision inserted in another measure and there may be another vote on both sides of the House in order to pass it. I want to say that in Scranton, Lackawanna county, and surrounding territory, that we are vitally interested in this bill and we enter our protest both to this part of the House and the other House for failing to agree on some plan of compensation. Whether this measure will be of any benefit to the coming Legislature I am unable to say but were I the Executive of this great State of Pennsylvania my first act would be to call this body back for the special purpose of passing a compensation act.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I have been in favor of a compensation act from the standpoint of an employer of labor, and have labored as earnestly at this session for the passage of one as any member of this Senate, but I am also in favor of justice to both sides of this question and I think by the appointment of a committee of this character we will get at the bottom of what is a real, fair, just compensation act. The gentleman says that these people in Scranton are vitally interested and that there will be something doing between now and the next session. It is the duty of this Senate as well as the House to consider not only the question of what is going to be beneficial to the side of labor but what is going to be beneficial to the preservation of capital and industries in this State, because without the one the other cannot exist and vice versa. The business men of this Commonwealth today are just as interested in solving this problem both as between the employes and themselves as are these men who are going through the State with the flags and banners and transparencies of political ambition, and even more so, because they are living not only every day in the week but every day in the year with those employes as their companions, and to put this matter on the question of a political issue is most damnable, because at this time and in this age almost every employer of labor is doing something in the way of meeting this issue by insuring himself against this condition. To my mind that condition has got to be directed so that the employer shall have the benefit that his sureties are now receiving. A concrete case was in the firm I am connected with which paid in the construction of the Market Street Subway $85,000 to an insurance company upon which there was but $20,000 paid out for accidents. That is the condition I want to see met, that the employee shall be compensated and the employer shall be compensated for the efficiency and magnitude of his business. But I do contend that when we do have a compensation act that that fund shall be contributed to by all the interests of this great Commonwealth. The big men, the middle men and the small men, and not that the middle men and small men shall have that responsibility and the great big corporations by reason of the enormous responsibility and opportunities shall be excluded from the privileges of the Act. I have been satisfied with the interest and with the efforts made by the Committee because I have been one of the gentlemen treating with them and their conclusion has not been one of dishonesty and deception but one after thoroughly considering the proposition and after submitting a proposition which to my mind was a starting point, but which should have been accepted by that Committee to which we entrusted the care of this question, and for the purpose of at least assuring the laboring man that his interest is to be properly protected with the State as the custodian. Now when men of our associations in this Senate have made these efforts let us as their fellow Senators do everything in our power that the interests or that great body of workmen of whom no man in this Senate or State has a greater regard than I, shall be properly protected and taken care of and that we will not sometime awaken to a realization that we have created a trust to their disadvantage and disadvantage to the people of the whole State, and find that what we have legislated for, the interests of the laboring men, has practically been to his detriment. I trust that this resolution will pass but not with the idea of any censure upon these gentlemen who are connected with this compensation project.
